Hi Mary,

Do you know about Mid-Autumn Festival? It's a special festival in Việt Nam. It's usually in September or October. During the festival, people eat mooncakes and drink tea with their family and friends.

Last year, my family and I made lanterns and put them outside our homes. The lanterns had different shapes—a star, a flower, and an animal. They had different colors, too.

This year, we will perform a lion dance in our neighborhood. My father and my uncle will wear lion costumes and dance to loud music to bring luck to others. I will play the drums during the show. All of us will have a lot of fun!

Do you have any traditional festivals in the US? Tell me about them.

Greetings from Đà Nẵng!

Last weekend, my family and I went on a fun holiday to the beach. We built sandcastles, played beach volleyball, and swam in the sea. The weather was perfect, and we had a great time together. During the trip, we also did volunteer work in an animal shelter, and I learned a lot about animals.

When we returned home, I started thinking about what I want to be when I grow up. I love animals, so I think I will become a vet. I will take care of sick pets and help them feel better. I can't wait to start my journey towards this exciting job! How about you? Do you have a dream job?
