LỜI NÓI ĐẦU

Tiếng Anh 12 English Discovery, được biên soạn theo Chương trình giáo dục phổ thông 2018 (ban hành kèm theo thông tư số 32/2018/TT-BGDĐT ngày 26/12/2018), dành cho học sinh lớp 12 cấp trung học phổ thông. Sách giúp các em phát triển năng lực tiếng Anh thông qua nhiều hoạt động và nội dung hấp dẫn, phù hợp với lứa tuổi và văn hoá, truyền thống Việt Nam, cũng như bổ sung kiến thức và kĩ năng toàn cầu của thế kỉ XXI.

Tiếng Anh 12 English Discovery bám sát nguyên lí dạy và học theo đường hướng giao tiếp (Communicative Language Teaching Approach). Nguyên lí này được thể hiện thông qua việc phát triển cho học sinh các nhóm năng lực thành phần cấu thành nên năng lực giao tiếp xuyên suốt các bài học. Hệ thống mục tiêu bài học được xây dựng theo các năng lực thuộc Khung đánh giá tiếng Anh toàn cầu GSE (Global Scale of English) kết hợp với các năng lực được quy định trong Chương trình giáo dục phổ thông 2018. Bộ sách hướng tới tính ứng dụng cao trong giao tiếp thông qua việc sử dụng các tình huống giao tiếp đa dạng trong đời thực liên quan và gắn liền với những gì học sinh quan tâm.

Tiếng Anh 12 English Discovery chú trọng đến việc phát triển con người toàn diện. Bên cạnh việc xây dựng năng lực ngôn ngữ, sách còn giúp học sinh hình thành và phát triển các kĩ năng và phẩm chất cần thiết của công dân thế kỉ XXI, như năng lực hợp tác, giải quyết vấn đề, tư duy phản biện, sáng tạo, và thói quen học tập suốt đời. Từ việc sử dụng được tiếng Anh để giao tiếp, các em sẽ có thêm kiến thức về cuộc sống quanh mình, hình thành mối liên kết giữa những gì đã biết, đã được trải nghiệm với nội dung bài học, từ đó giúp quá trình học và phát triển tiếng Anh trở nên tự nhiên và hiệu quả nhất.

geological mathematical physical

- 2 Read the text quickly. What do the bold words mean? What do the underlined phrases mean?
- 3 Read the text again. What scientists are mentioned and what are their fields of study? What do they have in common?

FEMALE SCIENTISTS

Changing The World

In any web search for the world's famous scientists, Marie Curie always receives a mention. Curie, a Polish and naturalised French physicist and chemist, discovered radiation, helped apply it in the field of X-rays and coined the term radioactivity. She made a huge contribution to science, but was one of the very few women who gained the recognition they deserved.

Science was man's world in the nineteenth century. And yet, Mary Anning became an expert in fossils and geology. Coming from a poor family, she collected fossils on the beach and sold them to make a little money. She found fossils of complete marine reptiles that became extinct over 100 million years ago. She gained the respect of scientists, but living in an era when women weren't allowed to vote or attend university, she was not allowed to join the Geological Society of London.

A hundred years later, conditions were still difficult for female scientists. Rosalind Franklin, a chemist born in 1920, was part of a team who discovered the molecular structure of DNA. Tragically, she died aged thirty-seven, four years before her fellow scientists, all men, were awarded the Nobel Prize in 1962. They made no reference to Franklin in their acceptance speech.

In cases where women's achievements were recognised, we still find evidence of discrimination in the way these were reported in the press. When the brilliant chemist Dorothy Hodgkin was awarded the Nobel Prize in 1964 for discovering the molecular structure of penicillin and vitamin B12, the paper headline was Oxford Housewife Wins Nobel. In fact, this housewife was also a professor at Oxford University. Today, the gender gap in the world of science is slowly closing and there are many female scientists inspiring new generations of girls to study scientific subjects. But there are still some ways to go for women to be equally represented in science.

- 4 Read the text again. Decide whether the following sentences are true (T) or false (F).

- Marie Curie first coined the term radioactivity. ☐
- Mary Anning was allowed to join the Geological Society of London despite living in an era when women weren't allowed to vote or attend university. ☐
- Rosalind Franklin was awarded the Nobel Prize in 1962. ☐
- The male scientists who were awarded the Nobel Prize did not mention Rosalind Franklin in their acceptance speech. ☐
- The paper headline 'Oxford Housewife Wins Nobel' did not acknowledge Dorothy Hodgkin's work as a professor. ☐
- There is no longer a gender gap in the world of science. ☐

- 5 Work in groups. Discuss:

- Does a gender gap exist in different professions in Việt Nam? Why (not)?
- What are some examples where a gender gap exists / does not exist?

Repeated and double comparatives

I can use repeated and double comparatives to talk about the life story of my family member.

- 1 Read the text about the life of Liên's grandmother. Write T (true) or F (false) next to each statement below.

My grandmother had an interesting life. At age five, her parents died, so she grew up in an orphanage. Life became harder and harder in the orphanage, so she left at the age of 14 to become a cook in a big city. As the years passed, more and more cooks were searching for jobs. She started making her own creative dishes and the restaurant she worked at became more and more famous. The harder she worked, the more successful she became. Unfortunately, she was the victim of a violent attack and could no longer cook. She remained determined and thought out of the box. She then started a program to help others with disabilities. Today, her foundation helps over 100 people in our city.

- 1 Liên's grandmother lived with her parents after age 5. _____
- 2 She left the orphanage at age 14. _____
- 3 She moved to a big city. _____
- 4 She became famous as a restaurant owner. _____
- 5 She was a victim of an attack. _____
- 6 She now has a foundation that helps people. _____

- 2 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Underline these structures from the text in Exercise 1.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

WRITING

I can write a biography of a famous singer.

- 1 Look at the photos. Do you know these albums by Taylor Swift? When were these albums created? What is your favourite song in each album?

- 2 Read and answer the questions.

Taylor Swift is an American singer and songwriter. She was born in 1989 in Pennsylvania. While only 9 years old, she became interested in musical theatre and performed in a youth theatre. Later she became more interested in country music, so she started performing at local events.

At age 14, her family moved to Nashville, where she became a songwriter of country songs. Her songs made headlines and people noticed how talented she was.

She was so successful that her country songs were the first to make it to the top of the US pop charts. Generally, country music never makes it to the top of the US pop charts.

Over the years, she has become famous for her unique musical style and showmanship. She also directed music videos and films. The more popular she became, the greater the number of roles she took on. For example, she directed documentaries and even played roles in films and TV shows.

Currently, she has sold over 200 million records globally and is one of the best-selling musicians in history.

Many people regard her as a prominent cultural figure. Reporters consider her polite and open personality to be a key reason for her success.

Live and learn

Educating the mind without educating the heart is no education at all.

Aristotle

DEGREE COURSES YOU DIDN'T KNOW EXISTED

Is this you?

You're keen to go on to higher education. But none of the traditional subjects appeal. Don't worry, these days you can get a degree in most things. You like baking? You can major in baking technology management. More inclined towards fashion? How about writing a dissertation on handbag and accessories design? If you have a passion for something, you can usually find a course that specialises in your area. Here are two courses you never knew existed.

1 THE SCIENCE OF SUPERHEROES

University of California, USA

This course is a new, creative way to learn physics. Through studying heroes and villains, you'll learn the answers to important real-life questions such as what the chemical composition of Captain America's armour is. In other words, you'll attend lectures on the real principles of physics, but they'll be given in a more engaging and accessible way.

2 SURF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

University of Plymouth, UK

The university website warns that 'You will not be taught how to surf, and it is important to realise that this is an academic course.' That means you don't graduate because you can catch a good wave – you have to sit exams here! Core modules include ecology and scientific aspects of health, fitness and sports nutrition.

3 Find the synonyms for the verbs in red. Then look up the highlighted phrases in the dictionary.

4 Read the text about the two courses offered. Which course would you choose?

5  2.01 Listen to a father and daughter discussing the webpage. Choose the correct option. Use a dictionary if necessary.

- 4 The father was disruptive / self-disciplined.
- 5 The father nearly got expelled / got a scholarship.
- 6 The father had lenient / strict teachers.
- 7 The father's teachers gave up on / supported him.
- 8 The father was dyslexic / a bully.
- 9 The father did well / fell behind at school.
- 10 The father scraped through / failed his exams.

- a A condition that affects a person's ability to communicate, socialize, and understand social cues.
- b A learning difficulty that affects a person's ability to read, write, and spell.
- c A learning difficulty that affects a person's ability to understand and work with numbers.
- d A condition that affects a person's ability to concentrate and focus.

2 2.02 Listen and read a text about Tuán, a child with autism. What were his difficulties? How did he overcome his challenges?

Tuán had been diagnosed with autism by the time he turned one. When he went to primary school, he was a disruptive student in class. However, his teachers soon realized that Tuán was gifted in maths and science. He had been able to solve complex maths problems before he turned eight. His teachers worked hard to provide him with the support he needed. Tuán was eventually able to focus more in class and became more self-disciplined. At home, Tuán initially screamed to get things done. However, Tuán's parents were lenient with him. They did not give up on him, because since he was two, they had always believed that his intelligence should be nurtured. He finally managed to maintain long talks and direct eye contact with people around because his parents had spent time interacting with him every single day, little by little. Looking back, it was clear that Tuán's journey had not been an easy one. However, his story reminds us that a child with autism can succeed with the right support and guidance.

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Complete the examples in the table using the verb forms in blue and underlined in the text in Exercise 2.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Past Simple and Past Perfect

- Past Simple is used to describe a completed action in the past.

I can identify specific information in a detailed talk about memory.

- 1 Discuss how good you are at remembering the different things in the box.

dates and times English words faces

- 2 Read about two methods of memorising a shopping list. Choose the best heading for each method. There are three extra headings.

- A Use your imagination
B Make up a dramatic narrative
C Learn how to give a speech
D Imagine what each item tastes like
E Visualise the items in a familiar place

MEMORY TIPS

Greek philosopher Socrates famously said 'Learning is remembering'. So, how can we improve our memory? The key is to use your imagination. Here are two ways of remembering a shopping list of eight items.

- 1 ____ First, imagine a huge loaf of bread, and suddenly, coffee squirts out of the top and makes a fountain of dark brown liquid. After a few seconds, the dark brown changes to white yoghurt. The yoghurt forms a river and it goes under a bridge – the bridge is a steak. Some black and green olives are crossing the bridge and some big brown eggs are chasing them. The olives hide behind a big carton of orange juice. You lift an olive to your mouth to eat and it turns into an onion which tastes horrible. That's it. You've reached the end.
- 2 ____ Think of your home and get a mental image of the rooms in your house. Then, put the items on the list, one by one, in specific places in the rooms. For instance, you imagine the bread on the doormat as you come in the door. Then you go into the living room and the coffee is in front of the television, the yoghurt is on the sofa and the steak is stuck to the mirror on a wall. And so on, it's all about making personal associations ... you get the idea. This method isn't just useful for memorising shopping lists. Some famous people have used it to give a speech without using notes.

- 3  2.03 Listen to four people talking about memory. Match statements A–E with speakers 1–4. There is one extra statement.

Speaker 1: ☐ Speaker 2: ☐

Speaker 3: ☐ Speaker 4: ☐

The speaker ...

- A refers to someone who is incapable of forgetting anything.
B wanted a family member to confirm whether his / her memory was correct.
C disagrees with someone about how they keep a good memory.
D wishes they could forget witnessing a crime.
E can identify someone after seeing them for a short while.

- 4  2.04 Listen again and answer the questions.

- 1 What is Speaker 1's earliest memory?
- 2 Does Speaker 2's grandfather have trouble remembering things?
- 3 Can Speaker 3 remember names and faces well?
- 4 Does Speaker 4 have a good memory?

- 2 On average a person has 70,000 thoughts each day.
- 3 The brain's storage capacity is practically unlimited.
- 4 The brain produces enough electricity to power a small light bulb.
- 5 Most people only use 10 percent of their brain.

HIDDEN TALENTS

2.07

Despite some recent advances, there is still a great deal about the human brain that remains a mystery. We know it is made up of about 100 billion nerve cells, called neurons, connected like wires in a giant telephone exchange. We know messages pass down them like electrical signals and jump from one neuron to the next when chemicals known as neurotransmitters are released. ¹___ But what we don't fully understand are things like consciousness, intelligence and creativity.

Much of our knowledge comes from studying brain functions when things go wrong. There are some fascinating cases of where a bang on the head has brought about changes in personality or caused a person to become talented in a way they weren't at all before the injury.

A famous case was Jason Padgett, a furniture salesman from Washington, who was mugged by two men after leaving a karaoke bar. He survived the attack, but was left unconscious.

²___ Padgett began to see patterns in everything he looked at, and to draw complex geometric figures. He seemed to understand the mathematical nature of the universe despite the fact that he had little formal academic training. The man who had barely scraped through his school exams ended up pursuing a career in mathematics as a number theorist.

Another example of this syndrome is twenty-four-year-old Ben McMahon from Australia, who fell into a coma after a car crash. A week later, he woke up speaking Mandarin Chinese. He had studied Chinese at school, but had never been fluent until the accident. McMahon works now as a Chinese-speaking tour guide in Australia.

Orlando Serrell suffered a head injury when he was knocked out in a baseball game at the age of ten. When he regained consciousness, he felt OK and finished the game. ³___ He has never made a mistake. For instance, ask him about 11 February 1983 and he says 'Friday. It was raining that day. I had a pizza – pepperoni sausage.'

There is no single theory to explain each case, but many researchers believe that acquired savant syndrome happens when the right side of the brain compensates for an injury to the left side. The condition is rare – fewer than one hundred cases have been identified. ⁴___ The challenge is how to access that hidden knowledge and skill without experiencing a bang on the head.

- 1  2.08 Listen to a podcast about being left-handed. What jobs seem to be more suited to 'lefties'?

To: Jill Duncan (Head of English)

From: Angie Dalton (School Exchange Organiser)

Hi Jill,

I've been thinking about having a welcome party for the Vietnamese exchange students. They can come to a get-together in the main hall. Make sure all your staff come along and also could you say a few words? – you know, say hello and tell the visitors a bit about the school and the town. We'll follow this with a bit of food (menu TBC). They can come in through the main entrance and we can get our students to say hello and then they can show the exchange students around the school.

BTW, I've already posted a map and directions on the website.

Thanks, Jill 😊

Text 2

You are invited to attend a reception in honour of the exchange group from Việt Nam.

The reception will be held in the school assembly hall from 5.00 p.m. to 6.30 p.m.

All English teaching staff will be present and in addition, the Head of English will give a welcome speech.

This will be followed by light refreshments. A map and directions have been posted on the website.

Please enter through the front entrance where student representatives will greet you.

Visitors will be given a guided tour of the school.

Dear Ms. Trang,

I am writing in response to your online advertisement seeking staff for your kindergarten's summer school programme. I wish to apply for the position of children's activity coordinator.

I am an eighteen-year-old childcare student and I am passionate about working with children. I intend to pursue a career as a kindergarten teacher when I finish my education. With this in mind, I hope to gain as much relevant experience as possible while I am still a student. I would welcome the opportunity to work with and learn from a successful organisation such as your kindergarten.

I gained considerable work experience at a local kindergarten last summer. During my work placement there, I worked alongside teachers, contributed to classes and supervised the children at break times. I also sat in on staff meetings and coordinated a very successful sports day. Additionally, as a keen athlete and artist, I feel confident I possess relevant skills and would be well suited to the position.

I would be delighted to attend an interview at your convenience and have attached my CV for your consideration. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you require any further information.

Yours sincerely,

Thu Nguyễn

VOCABULARY

3.1

Landscape features • location
• describing places in the city

I can describe cities and talk about city life.

1 Which of these townscape and landscape features can you find near your school? Discuss with a partner.

a breathtaking view a bridge a canal a fast-flowing river a historic monument a housing estate a market square a shopping centre a waterfront restaurant slums

2 A city in Spain has banned cars from the city centre. Discuss the possible advantages and disadvantages.

A SMALL CITY WITH BIG IDEAS

Pontevedra, located on the northwest coast of Spain, is a small city surrounded by rolling hills. The picturesque old town of Pontevedra comes alive at night and the vibrant atmosphere continues well into the early hours.

So far, it sounds like any Spanish city. But this one is different – I'm standing in the city centre and I can't hear any cars!

The mayor of Pontevedra was determined to preserve the historic centre of the city with its bustling squares, Gothic architecture and quaint backstreets, and limit urban development.

- 3 3.01 Complete the list with the adjectives in red in the text. Then listen, check and repeat.

So he banned cars – completely! He transformed the medieval centre into a pedestrian zone. He felt that the historical centre was dead. It was a city in decline, polluted, with a lot of traffic accidents. He got rid of on-street parking and opened underground car parks on the outskirts of the city within walking distance of the centre. With pedestrianisation, the shabby city centre got a facelift: roundabouts replaced traffic lights and pavements, drainage systems, public lighting and street furniture were all renovated.

- 4 3.02 Complete the list with the underlined collocations and compound nouns in the text. Then listen, check and repeat.

- 1 on-street _____
- 2 pedestrian _____
- 3 rolling _____
- 4 underground _____

- 5 Think about your own local town or city. Discuss the questions:

- 1 How doable / desirable would it be to ban all cars from the centre?
- 2 What changes would have to be made before the ban and in what order?

Future forms including the Future Perfect Continuous

I can use a variety of forms to talk about the future.

- 1 Look at the pairs of sentences. Which alternative is more likely? Discuss with a partner. Give reasons for your answers. In three years' time ...

- 1 a I'll still be living at home with my parents.
b I won't be living at home with my parents.
- 2 a I'll have moved to another part of the country.
b I won't have moved to another part of the country.
- 3 a I'll have been studying at university for a year.
b I won't have been studying at university for a year.

- 2 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and discuss the difference in meaning between the sentences in Exercise 1.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Future forms

- You use the Future Simple to predict the future events.
1 The city will grow up to be a metropolis.
- You use the Future Continuous to talk about unfinished actions in progress at a time in the future. It often refers to future events that are fixed or expected.
2 At 11.00 a.m. tomorrow, I'll be doing an exam.
- You use the Future Perfect Simple to talk about an action that will be completed before a certain time in the future.
3 By 11.00 a.m. tomorrow, I'll have done an exam.
- You use the Future Perfect Continuous to talk about how long an action will have been in progress before a certain time in the future.
4 By 11.00 a.m. tomorrow, I'll have been doing an exam for an hour.

- 3 Put the verbs into the Future Simple, Future Continuous, Future Perfect Simple, or Future Perfect Continuous.

- 1 By 2050, urbanization _____ (transform) many shabby neighborhoods into vibrant and bustling urban centers.
- 2 The pedestrian zone in the medieval center of the city _____ (become) a hub of activity by the end of the decade.
- 3 As urbanization continues, more and more people _____ (live) in densely populated areas for some decades by 2050.
- 4 By the time the new high-rise developments are completed, the city _____ (undergo) a dramatic transformation.
- 5 The city's skyline _____ (change) significantly, with modern buildings towering over the historic architecture by the end of this year.

READING

Gapped text
I can infer unstated information and understand relationships between ideas in a descriptive text.

- 1 3.07 Look at the list of words and phrases. Which ones would you use to describe your house or flat? Use a dictionary if necessary. Then listen and repeat.

A house has ...

- 1 a canvas camp bed ☐
- 2 central heating ☐
- 3 an en suite bathroom ☐
- 4 a fireplace ☐
- 5 a fitted kitchen ☐
- 6 running water ☐

A house is ...

- 7 cramped ☐
- 8 damp ☐
- 9 draughty ☐
- 10 inaccessible ☐
- 11 minimalist ☐
- 12 snug ☐

- 2 Look at the photo of Zeki and the map. Which words from Exercise 1 would you use to describe his 'house'?
- 3 Read the article and check your ideas in Exercise 2. Then answer the questions.
- 1 Where does Zeki come from?
 - 2 Who taught him to live in the wilderness?
 - 3 Where is he living at the moment?
 - 4 What is he studying?
 - 5 What is his daily routine?
 - 6 Does he miss his friends?

I am 16 and live alone in the wilderness

3.08

I live alone on the Isle of Skye in a tipi almost impossible to find without detailed directions. Mum, a cookbook writer, taught us about possible dangers and how to cope with them, then let us run wild from an early age. ¹ _____. I spent so much time with tribes who rely on the land that this became second nature to me. When I gained a place at the School of Adventure Studies on the Isle of Skye last year, I decided to live in a tipi, practising what I preach.

I wake up at 6.00 a.m. and get the fire on straight away using flints and steel. ² _____. Sometimes I just jump in, especially when there's frost on the ground. When I rush back to the tipi, it's like a sauna. I get my backpack organised, including any food and kit I need for the day, cover the fire to keep it low, but alive and walk thirty minutes to the school. There are twelve of us on the course, of all ages, and we've just finished mountaineering. We're about to start whitewater kayaking.

4 Read the article again. Complete gaps 1–4 in the text with sentences A–E. There is one extra sentence.

- A A few people were exhausted and had to be taken off the mountain by the leaders, but I feel comfortable in the mountains and enjoyed the challenge.
- B We also travelled abroad regularly, visiting remote tribes and cultures, where we lived for weeks as mum studied food and recipes to write about.
- C I'd like to see more people look after the land and not be scared of getting outside, getting wet, learning how to survive. When my studies are over, I'll move the tent back to mum's house.
- D Eating things in nature is not something to play around with – if you make a mistake it can be quite a serious one. I sometimes eat too much of something and I get a stomach ache.
- E There's usually some fire left from the previous day, so the fire is soon blazing while I have cereal for breakfast. I collect wood for later in the day, then I wash at the river.

5 Which of the blue expressions in the text does Zeki use to describe ...

- 1 ... something he was allowed to do as a child?
- 2 ... the reason why he decided to live in a tipi?
- 3 ... his feelings about being on his own?
- 4 ... the long-lasting effect that visiting remote tribes had on him?
- 5 ... something that doesn't suit everybody?
- 6 ... the state of being alert and prepared for any new situation?
- 7 ... the ability to stay calm in a stressful situation?
- 8 ... some of the frightening experiences he has had?

6 Discuss in pairs. What do you like / dislike most about Zeki's life? Why?

I've had a few hairy moments. Once I was on the hills when the weather turned bad and I became disoriented, but thanks to Mum's training, I knew I had to keep a cool head. My classmates and I recently had a two-day test in horrible weather. ³ _____. However, I'm aware that I need to keep my wits about me and be prepared.

My friends used to love coming to our home and running wild with me, so they are used to the way I live. I hope some of them will visit me soon.

People ask if I miss the Internet, but I never used to use it much, or watch television. I am sociable, but I have always enjoyed my own company. I use my mobile every few weeks to catch up with friends and my mum, who I usually see once a month.

What I'm doing isn't everyone's cup of tea, but it makes me happy. ⁴ _____. Until then, I'm happiest sitting by the flickering fire, carving a spoon in perfect silence and watching the stars through the open tipi door.

Quantifiers

I can use a range of different quantifiers correctly.

- Describe your bedroom to a partner. On a scale of 1–10 (1=extremely tidy, 10=extremely untidy), what score is your bedroom?
- 3.09 Read and listen to Part 1 of a vlog post. Why does the vlogger want to tidy her room?

Part 1

Welcome fellow teens to my video blog. Today's vlog is called 'How to tidy your room in ten minutes!' I'm sure all of you know what I'm talking about – your room's a total nightmare. It looks as if a bomb has exploded. There's loads of dirty washing – in fact the whole floor is covered. There's no space anywhere. You have plenty of clothes, but you don't wear half of them because you can't find them. Most of them are in a pile because there are not enough drawers to put them in. You've had a number of opportunities to tidy your room but you haven't, and now the very cool new friend you like is coming round. Very few of your friends know what a slob you are and you want to keep it like that. You don't have much time, so here are a few speed-cleaning tips.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Quantifiers

You can use a wide range of different expressions to talk about quantity:

Countable nouns	Uncountable nouns	Both
every, each many a number of*, several a few (very) few both, a couple of* either neither	much, a great deal of* a little (very) little	all most a lot of*, lots of*, loads of*, plenty of* some no, none of*

- Use quantifiers without of before nouns: most people
- Use quantifiers with of before determiner + noun: most of the people, and before pronouns: most of them
- *Always use these quantifiers with of: a lot of people

Note: all the people and all of the people are possible. You can't use of after no and every. Use none of and every one of.

- 3.10 Read Part 2 of the vlog post and choose the correct option. Then listen and check.

Part 2

- Find a laundry basket and put ¹*all* / each the clothes on the floor into it. Too ²*much* / many clothes? OK, get ³*a couple* / a few of bin bags and put the rest in there. Then hide ⁴*both* / either of the bags in the wardrobe. If the cool friend sees ⁵*plenty* / either of the bags, just say it's ⁶*a few* / few things you're collecting for charity.
- The whole place smells of snacks, so take ⁷*every* / some half-empty drink and stale half-eaten crisp packet to the kitchen immediately. There's a big difference between messy and disgusting.
- There are ⁸*a number* / several of things that would give the wrong impression, things like your huge pink teddy bear ... Hide them.
- Make the bed. There's ⁹*no* / none excuse for an unmade bed.
- Open ¹⁰*plenty* / all the windows – now!

You're ready!

USE OF ENGLISH

Determiners

I can use all, both, each, every correctly.

1 Read a review of the Hobbiton movie set and answer the questions.

- Where is it located?
- What did the tourists think of it?
- Would you like to go there?

A hobbit fan's PARADISE

If you're a fan of The Hobbit movies, you'll love this Hobbiton tour. I was on a family holiday with my parents and my sister in New Zealand. The whole family are fans of The Hobbit movies and we've seen every one of them, so we went to visit the Hobbiton movie set which is located on a sheep farm. It's a popular tourist spot – all the tourists take hundreds of photos, and so did we! There are forty-four Hobbit holes, and I think we visited all of them. Each Hobbit hole is different and has a round brightly painted door. A team of four gardeners keep the village looking neat and tidy. There were two places to eat and drink: The Shire's Rest Café and The Green Dragon Inn, and we stopped at both places! In fact, the tour ended at the Green Dragon Inn. It was exactly like in the film and the whole time we were there, we were expecting Bilbo Baggins to walk in! My sister and I had ginger lemonade. There were other drinks like tea and hot chocolate, but we were really thirsty. Mum and Dad had tea and cookies. Mum was so hungry that she wanted another cookie but we didn't have time.

A 'for and against' essay

I can write a 'for and against' essay using formal language.

- 1 Read VIỆT NAM TODAY. How similar or different do you think the situation in your country is?

VIỆT NAM TODAY

Dormitories (Dorms)

- Most Vietnamese universities provide accommodation for first-year students in university-owned dorms, on or near the campus.
- There is often a supervisor, whose job is to maintain order and support students with everyday issues.
- Rooms in these dorms are generally small, and in most cases, bills are included in the rental price.
- Between 2022 and 2023, the average cost of renting a room in dorms in Việt Nam was about 400,000 - 800,000 VND per month.

- 2 Read the comments made by first-year university students. Decide if they refer to advantages or disadvantages of living in dorms. Then compare with a partner.

- 1 Freedom!
- 2 It's impossible to get any studying done.
- 3 I'm exhausted. There are parties every night.
- 4 There's a supervisor we can talk to if we have any problems.
- 5 Rules, rules, rules! Keep quiet, clean up, no visitors.
- 6 We all help each other out. I've made so many new friends.

- 3 Read the essay on living in dorms. In pairs, decide which advantages and disadvantages from Exercise 2 the author mentions. Which one is NOT included?

It is very common for young people beginning university to choose to live together with other students in dorms. Although there are several potential downsides to this communal way of living, there are also numerous benefits.

One of the most convincing arguments for dorms is that they allow students to experience independent living in a safe place with a strong sense of community. Having never lived alone, most new students appreciate this supportive environment. In the same way, the presence of an official supervisor is likely to be reassuring for students and their parents. Yet another plus is that dorms are usually very convenient because they are located on or close to university campuses. This allows residents to save time and money.

Despite these clear advantages, there are also considerable drawbacks. The first downside is that the rooms tend to be very small and bathrooms may sometimes have to be shared. Being full of young people, dorms can also be very noisy. This can make them difficult places to study in. Likewise, parties and late nights are common, and can interfere with students' academic progress.

All things considered, there are pros and cons to living in dorms. Certainly, residents need to be self-disciplined in order to successfully balance study and social life. Personally, I imagine the benefits of living closely with other students outweigh the drawbacks.

4 Discuss the questions.

- 1 What is the author's opinion of dorms?
- 2 Would you like to live in this type of student accommodation? Why? / Why not?

5 Complete the WRITING FOCUS. Use the words and expressions in purple in the text.

WRITING FOCUS

A 'for and against' essay

Introduction

- Begin with general or factual comments on the topic.
Many young people beginning university choose to live in dorms.
- End with a statement that mentions both sides of the issue.

Although there are several potential ¹downsides to ..., there are also numerous benefits.

- Paraphrase the task question.

While some students (opt) → choose to move away and live on their own or with roommates, others choose to (remain) → stay in their hometown and continue living with their parents. Although there are downsides → (disadvantages) of this trend, there are potential benefits → (advantages) to students.

For example:

Although there are downsides of this trend, there are potential benefits to students.

= Although living with parents has its disadvantages, it also offers potential advantages.

Mary: Hi, Lena. Do you think our city is growing very fast these days?

Lena: Yes, I do. It's amazing to see high-rise buildings everywhere.

Mary: ¹ _____. But what do you think about the drawbacks of urbanization? I think increased traffic and pollution are among the very first drawbacks.

Lena: ² _____, but urbanization has its benefits, too. For me, there are more opportunities for jobs, education and entertainment for local people.

Mary: ³ _____, but what about the cost of living? It's becoming more expensive to live in our city.

Lena: That's true, but overall, urbanization has contributed to our higher living standards.

Mary: ⁴ _____. So our local government needs to do something to mitigate the negative effects of urbanization while still enjoying its benefits.

Lena: ⁵ _____. I think the government should focus on building sustainable infrastructure and promoting green spaces to combat pollution and congestion. We can build low-cost living areas that are more affordable for everyone.

Mary: Yes, that sounds like a good plan.

- 4 Work in pairs. Talk about the benefits and drawbacks of city development on the life of people. Use the expressions in the SPEAKING FOCUS.

Benefits

- Access to a wider range of goods and services, such as healthcare, education, and entertainment.
- Greater job opportunities and higher salaries.
- Improved infrastructure, including transportation networks.
- Greater cultural diversity and exposure to different ways of life, ideas, and perspectives.
- Greater access to public spaces, such as parks, museums, and libraries.

Drawbacks

- Higher cost of living, including housing, food, and transportation for lower-income residents.
- Increased levels of pollution, noise, and congestion.
- Greater levels of stress and social isolation.
- Greater levels of crime and safety concerns, especially in urban areas.
- Demolition of historical buildings and loss of cultural identity.

READING

- 4 Read the text and answer the questions.

In recent years, more people are moving to big cities in search of better job opportunities and a higher standard of living. However, there are several drawbacks to this trend.

One of the most obvious disadvantages of urbanization is the pressure on city infrastructure. As cities grow, their roads and public transport systems can experience congestion and delays. In addition, a large number of vehicles and industrial activities can result in increased pollution levels, which can cause negative health problems for urban residents.

Another possible drawback of urbanization is social problems such as the gap between the rich and the poor. Housing can become unaffordable for lower-income families and cause them to live in slums or poor-condition residential areas while other higher-income families live in high-quality living spaces.

Urbanization can also have negative impacts on mental health. The hustles and bustles in cities can be uncomfortable for some people, which may lead to stress, anxiety, and depression. In addition, the cities may lack green spaces and natural environments for citizens to relax and unwind.

Finally, urbanization can potentially result in the loss of historic and cultural identity. As cities grow and modernize, there would be more demand for housing and some historic and cultural places of a city might be destroyed to make room for new housing plans.

- What is the first downside of urbanization?
- Why does urbanization result in the widening gap between the rich and the poor?
- How does urbanization affect residents' mental health?
- What may happen to the historic and cultural places in big cities due to urbanization?

SPEAKING

The Life Journey of a PLASTIC BOTTLE

Plastic has only existed for around 100 years, but it's everywhere. 70 PERCENT of plastic water bottles are not recycled.

2 Read the infographic. Which statistic is most shocking?

3 4.01 Match stages of the bottle's journey A–F with places 1–6 on the infographic. Then listen again and check.

- A It remains on the loose and blows across the open countryside through orchards and meadows. ☐
- B Somebody drinks the liquid and throws the bottle away – it is released into the wild and it begins its migration. ☐
- C Eventually it reaches the open sea and joins the thriving population of plastic waste in the Pacific Ocean. ☐
- D A plastics factory is the breeding ground for our plastic bottle. It hatches here and then moves to its natural habitat, the supermarket. ☐
- E In built-up areas nowhere is safe – not even parks. Children want to kick it and park wardens want to catch it and put it in captivity. ☐
- F It drops into a stream which takes it out of the foothills and onto the plain. ☐

4 4.02 Listen and label the pictures with the words in red in Exercise 3.

5 4.03 Complete the list with the words in the box. Then listen and repeat.

- 7 According to the speaker, cats' indifference to pleasing their owners results from the fact that they simply don't care for human _____.

- 5 Discuss the questions.

- 1 Which domesticated animal do you think is most / least useful to society? Why?
- 2 How could wild animals be better protected? Is it ever OK to keep them in captivity?
- 3 Do you know any organisations, international or local, which help to protect animals and nature? Can you give examples of their activities?

PRONUNCIATION FOCUS

ASSIMILATION

In English pronunciation, assimilation often occurs in connected speech, where sounds in words can change or blend together based on the sounds that come before or after them.

- 1 Consonant assimilation: In the word "handbag," the /d/ sound in "hand" is assimilated to the /b/ sound in "bag," so it is pronounced as /hænbæg/.
- 2 Vowel assimilation: In the phrase "go out," the /əʊ/ sound in "go" is assimilated to the /aʊ/ sound in "out," so it is pronounced as /gaʊt/.
- 3 Nasal assimilation: In the word "handful," the /n/ sound in "hand" is assimilated to the /f/ sound in "ful," so it is pronounced as /hænfəl/.

- 6 In pairs, practise saying these sentences. Pay attention to the bold words.

- 1 The last point he made was very smart.
- 2 In the sixth century, there were many misconceptions about the world.
- 3 The gold mine was undervalued for years.
- 4 She had to hold back her aggressive behaviour to maintain her loyal relationships with her colleagues.
- 5 As yet, he had not received any fan mail.
- 6 He was a good guitarist, which added to his impressive reputation as a musician.

FILM BLOG

THIS WEEK'S THEME:

DISASTER MOVIES BASED ON TRUE STORIES

A THE IMPOSSIBLE

The film is based on the story of a Spanish family who went on a Christmas holiday to Khao Lak in Thailand in 2004 and were caught up in the tsunami that hit Southeast Asia, killing 230,000 people in fourteen countries.

The filming of the tsunami itself is spectacular and uses a mixture of digital effects and real waves filmed in slow motion in a water tank.

Most of the film deals with the aftermath of the tsunami and the agony suffered by the family when they are split up and have no idea whether the others have survived.

In the film, the family are British, with Naomi Watts and Ewan McGregor giving honest and compassionate performances as the parents of three young boys. The director, Juan Antonio Bayona, wanted the film to be as realistic as possible, so the actors had to spend five weeks of physically demanding filming in a massive water tank.

The Impossible tells a captivating true story in which survival, society, family ties and human kindness all shine through.

The Impossible is an amazing film, but it made me question how sensible it is to develop tourism in areas that are likely to suffer natural disasters. Isn't it too risky?

John

In this film

- 1 the special effects led to difficult filming conditions for the actors. ☐
- 2 the director gave the characters their own voice. ☐
- 3 the characters are not expecting the disaster. ☐
- 4 the characters are starving due to man-made problems. ☐

5 4.11 Complete the list with the words in blue in the reviews. Then listen, check and repeat.

- 1 _____ poverty / hunger
- 2 physically _____
- 3 on a _____ note
- 4 suffer _____

6 Answer the questions about the blog reviews using the collocations in Exercise 5.

A

- 1 What does a large part of the film focus on?
- 2 How does the reviewer describe the conditions in which the actors had to perform?

B

- 1 What problems confronting William's village does the film investigate?
- 2 Despite the problems, how does the film end and why?

7 Read the two comments under the reviews and discuss whether you agree with the views. Give reasons for your answers.

B THE BOY WHO HARNESSSED THE WIND

Set in Africa, the film tells the story of Malawian inventor William Kamkwamba. When he was just fourteen years old, he saved his family and village from famine by building an electricity-generating windmill from spare parts, working from rough plans he found in a library book. The film explores a community facing extreme poverty and hunger. Although the Kamkwamba family is struggling to survive, the parents do their best to focus on their children's education, but William is forced to leave school when the family can no longer afford the school fees. The film is directed by and stars Chiwetel Ejiofor who spent a decade getting to know the Malawi people and learning their language. He uses subtitles so that the characters in the film mostly speak Chichewa, the Malawian language, and this is one of the reasons why the characters are so believable.

Drought and the underlying issues of deforestation, colonialism and climate change are dealt with in detail. But the movie ends on a positive note, with science-obsessed William Kamkwamba saving his village, bringing them electricity and more importantly, water.

The Boy Who Harnessed the Wind shows yet again how unfair life is and how important it is for rich countries to help people in poor countries to survive.

GRAMMAR

Cleft sentences

I can use a variety of sentence structures to change the emphasis.

1 4.12 Read and listen to a conversation between two friends. Why does Will get angry?

Will: I've been watching a programme about extreme weather events – interesting but very scary! What they did was show the effects of some recent floods where people had lost absolutely everything. Rarely have I seen such devastating scenes. What I find shocking is that some people still believe that humans have nothing to do with climate change.

Emma: I don't think you can blame humans.

Will: What? It's those kind of comments that really annoy me. How can you say that?

Emma: All I'm saying is that there's no link between carbon emissions and climate change. What's happened is that scientists have invented global warming so they can get more funding.

Will: Are you serious?! Not only are you making ridiculous accusations, but you don't even know the basic facts. Of course it's carbon emissions that are to blame for global warming.

2 Read and complete the GRAMMAR FOCUS with the words in blue in Exercise 1.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Emphasis – cleft sentences

There are a variety of ways in which you can change the emphasis in a sentence.

- Cleft sentences: 'divide' a sentence by adding a clause to emphasise key information.

What's 'happened is (that) scientists have invented ...
(= Scientists have invented ...)

What they ' was (to) show the effects of ...
(= They showed the effects of ...)

³ I find shocking is (that) ... (= I find it shocking (that) ...)

⁴ those kind of comments that ... (= Those kind of comments ...)

⁵ I'm saying is (that) ... (= I'm just saying (that) ...)

3 Complete the sentences with the words in the box. There is one extra word.

(what do that (x3) does is it's (x2))

- ¹ It's the gases from industrialisation that have caused the greenhouse effect.
- ² What scientists _____ is analyse air that's 800,000 years old, trapped under the ice in Antarctica.
- ³ _____ I'm saying is _____ there is more carbon dioxide in the atmosphere now than there was before.
- ⁴ It _____ the captivating beauty of the landscape _____ was destroyed by the wildfire.
- ⁵ _____ only in recent decades _____ we observe a rise in sea levels and more extreme weather events.

4 Rewrite the sentences using the structures from the GRAMMAR FOCUS and the words in capitals.

- Will and Emma had an argument. HAPPENED
What happened was (that) Will and Emma had an argument.
- Will (not Emma) started talking about climate change. IT

USE OF ENGLISH

Prefixes

I can recognise and form a wide range of words using prefixes.

1 Think about how the weather affects human behaviour. Choose the option you think is correct.

- 1 Rainy / Sunny weather makes you sleepy.
- 2 Rainy / Sunny weather makes you hungry.
- 3 Rainy / Sunny weather makes you more violent.
- 4 Calm / Stormy weather makes children hyperactive.
- 5 Dull / Sunny weather makes your memory better.
- 6 Rainy / Sunny weather makes you feel comforted.

2 Read the blog and check your ideas in Exercise 1.

HOW WEATHER AFFECTS HUMAN BEHAVIOUR

Are you incapable of getting up in the morning? That may be because it's raining, and the absence of sunlight causes the sleep hormone melatonin to be overactive. Heavy rain can also make you hungry. When it's cloudy, the hormone serotonin decreases, and you need more carbohydrates.

The effect of rain on crime rates cannot be underestimated. A New York Times investigation found that crimes committed on dry days far outnumber those committed in bad weather because people (including criminals) are unwilling to go out in the rain. Perhaps we should reconsider our negative opinion of British weather in the light of these statistics!

High temperatures on the other hand have long been linked with an upturn in violence. Raised temperatures cause an increase in heart rates and people are less able to control their temper.

WRITING

A letter to an editor

I can write a formal letter using a variety of linking devices.

- 1 Read Minh Anh's comment in Young Traveller magazine. Do you agree with her point of view? Why? / Why not?
- 2 Read Tùng's letter to the magazine in response to Minh Anh's comments. Why does he choose to write about Côn Đảo? Would you like to visit the island? Why? / Why not?

HAVE YOUR SAY ...

Last month we asked you: Is enough being done to protect the natural environment in popular tourist destinations?

MINH ANH, 17, WROTE: _____

I'm a nature lover and it seems to me that governments and tour operators care mainly about the money that tourism generates and not about the negative impacts that visitors have on natural environments. Development of facilities for tourists often takes priority over protection of areas of natural beauty and local wildlife, and not enough is done to establish national parks or develop tourism responsibly.

TÙNG, 18, WROTE: _____

Dear Editor,

- 1 I am contacting you after reading Minh Anh's comments in January's Young Traveller magazine. Although I understand Minh Anh's concerns, I would like to point out that there are tourist resorts where a great deal is being done to promote wildlife protection and preserve natural beauty.
- 2 Having just returned from a holiday to beautiful Côn Đảo, I have personally seen sustainable tourism in action. The island's natural environment is vital to its success as a tourist destination, yet it is only relatively recently that the authorities have begun to protect it.
- 3 Côn Đảo National Park has established marine conservation zones where fishing and other activities are restricted to protect the marine ecosystem. The park also works to monitor and protect coral reefs, seagrass meadows, and other important marine habitats.
- 4 The situation in Côn Đảo is not perfect; nevertheless, it is undeniable that the negative impacts of tourism have been reduced and the turtles continue to lay their eggs there. To my mind, the island proves that some tourist destinations are concerned about more than just money. Perhaps, the positive example in Côn Đảo could trigger other resorts to care more for their natural environments.
Yours faithfully,
Tùng

5 Read the message which was printed after Tùng's letter in Young Traveller magazine. Then plan your letter to an editor.

Thank you for your interesting contribution, Tùng. We would like to hear from other readers who have visited, or know of places where similar efforts are being made. Write a letter (180-200 words) describing a place in which negative impacts of tourism on the natural environment are being controlled.

READING

- 4 Read texts A–C and match them with questions 1–4. One text matched two of the questions. Which text mentions an environment where ...

- 1 temperatures can change dramatically during a single day?
- 2 a very wide range of species thrive?
- 3 there are no distinct seasons?
- 4 few plants and animals can live?

DESERTS

Contrary to popular perception, temperature alone does not directly define whether an area of land is described as a desert. The key factor instead is rainfall, with desert areas averaging less than 254 millimetres of rain a year. There are, in fact, what are known as 'cold deserts', such as in the Antarctic, where temperatures can be below freezing. Even the hot, dry deserts we most typically think of, such as the Sahara, can experience very dramatic temperature drops at night. This is because the lack of cloud cover allows hot air to escape very quickly once the sun has set.

As their name suggests, rainforests are found in areas with consistently high levels of rainfall, typically in tropical regions of the world around the equator. They may receive more than 2,000 millimetres of rain a year and with an average daily temperature of around 28 degrees Celsius, they are hot and humid. This climate is consistent all year round which creates the perfect habitat for an incredibly diverse range of plants and animals and makes them some of the most biodiverse environments on the planet.

TUNDRAS

One of the world's harshest environments are tundras, treeless ecosystems found in the Arctic and on the tops of mountains. These areas are very cold and windy with little rainfall, making it difficult for both plants and animals to survive. Most of the plants found on the tundra are very low-lying, growing in gaps in the rocks where they have some protection from the wind. The Arctic tundra is covered in snow for much of the year, with the soil below the surface permanently frozen. Tundra plants have a very short growing season of just fifty to sixty days during the short Arctic summer.

SPEAKING

- 5 Ask and answer the questions.

- 1 What could be done to persuade people to recycle more?
- 2 How can you use social media to promote an environmentally-friendly lifestyle?
- 3 Is the work of environmental organisations effective? What makes you think so?
- 4 What are the advantages of living next to large green areas?

The social media

Never let the truth get in the way of a good story.

Mark Twain

VOCABULARY

5.1

The media • truth and falsehood • adjective–noun collocations • adverbs

I can talk about the media and fake news.

- 1 Look at the three news headlines and discuss which one you think is true. Explain why.

1 American woman adopts alien baby!

SPACE BABY SURVIVES UFO CRASH

'I couldn't resist its big sad eyes,' says woman from Ohio.

2 5 million euros lottery winner leaves winnings on bus

Joe Smith appeals to public: 'I was going to buy my mum a new house.'

3 WOMAN BURST INTO FLAMES DURING AN OPERATION!

Spark ignites cleaning solution and patient becomes ball of fire.

FAKE NEWS

What is it?

Completely made-up stories presented as news and made to go viral, often for politically motivated reasons or commercial gain stories are 70 percent more likely to be retweeted because they are usually more eye-catching than the truth. Some people spread fake news deliberately while others do it without realising. The Internet is awash with information that cannot be trusted. The smartphone generation is bombarded with such information practically on a daily basis and they're growing up alarmingly misinformed.

How do you know what you're reading is accurate?

Don't take a story at face value – step back and ask yourself these questions:

- Does the story come from a reputable source? Has this website always shown a clear commitment to newsworthy stories based on fact? Alternatively, is this an article put out knowingly by an organisation that has an agenda – an agenda to manipulate the media because of a political or commercial motive?

2 Read the article again and answer the questions.

- 1 Why is fake news usually created?
- 2 How can we check the reliability of a news source?
- 3 In what way can images suggest that news is fake?
- 4 What do you do your instincts with to spot fake news?

ARE YOU
DISTORTING
THE TRUTH?

Does the photo or video look normal? If it looks slightly odd, it may have been tampered with to distort the truth and mislead people into believing something that never actually happened.

Is this story likely to be true? There are different ways in which a story can be inaccurate or misleading. Start from your gut feeling, trust your instincts – does it sound believable? American woman adopts alien baby is clearly fake news. But how about the lottery winner? Would he really carry 5 million euros in cash on a bus? Then there's the story of a person bursting into flames. Unbelievable, right? Not exactly – you can check the accuracy of this story by searching online where you find out that fires in operating theatres are remarkably common! In fact, the third story is the only true story.

3 5.01 Complete the list below with the verbs in red in the text. Then listen, check and repeat.

People / Organisations can sometimes ...

- 1 distort the truth
- 2 _____ an agenda
- 3 _____ the media
- 4 _____ / misinform people
- 5 _____ fake news
- 6 _____ with photos

You should ...

- 7 _____ the accuracy
- 8 _____ your instincts
- 9 not _____ a story at face value

4 5.02 Complete the list below with the underlined phrases in the text in the correct form. Then listen, check and repeat.

- 1 awash with bombarded with } information
- 2 a clear
a long-term } _____
- 3 for commercial for political } _____
- 4 on a daily
on a regular } _____
- 5 a distinct
a gut } _____
- 6 a newsworthy
an eye-catching } _____
- 7 a reliable
a reputable } _____

5 Did any information in the article surprise you? What do you do to make sure that what you are reading is true?

Conditional sentences type 3

I can talk about a social media platform using conditional sentences type 3

- 1 Discuss in pairs: Do you trust the information on Facebook? Why (not)?
- 2 Read the following sentences. What do these sentences have in common?
 - 1 If Facebook hadn't been created, people might have continued to use emails to connect with each other.
 - 2 If Facebook hadn't been created, the world of social media would not have changed that much.
 - 3 If Facebook hadn't been created, people might have used blogposts to write their stories.
- 3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and replace If ... not in the above sentences with Unless.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Conditional sentences type 3 describe a situation in the past that cannot be changed because it has already happened. These sentences are often used to talk about regrets or to speculate about what might have happened if things had been different.

- If + S + V past perfect tense, S + would have + V past participle.

If my friends hadn't started using Facebook, I would not have used it.

= Unless my friends had started using Facebook, I would not have used it.

Unless is used to mean 'if not'.

- 4 Put the verbs given into the correct form of conditional sentence type 3.

Ms. Trang had to pay a high price for the misleading information regarding her health condition last year. If only she ¹ _____ (be) more careful, she ² _____ (not fall) for the fake news on social media. Two years ago, she read a long status on social media written by a man, who claimed as a local therapist and advertised a locally-made herbal medication could cure all ailments for cancer. At the time, Trang was desperate for a cure for her lung cancer, so she believed it all at once. She ordered the medication online and started taking it, but soon she began to experience severe side effects.

If Trang ³ _____ (research) the medication carefully before buying it, she ⁴ _____ (realize) it was a scam. But it was too late, and she found herself in trouble. She became very sick and had to be hospitalized. Her health deteriorated rapidly, and she regretted falling for the fake news. If only she ⁵ _____ (listen) to the warnings about fake news on social media, she ⁶ _____ (not put) her health and life at risk. She learned a valuable lesson and warned others about the dangers of fake news.

- 5 Rewrite the following sentences in conditional sentences type 3.

1 A singer has recently manipulated the media to mislead his fans about the news.
If a singer had not manipulated the media, his fans would not have been misled about the news.

2 They distorted the truth to make their product sound better than it actually was.

3 The news story about Harry sounded unbelievable, so I checked the accuracy of its information.

4 She did not use a reputable source for her report, so the information was not reliable.

5 He double-checked the sources of the news, so his friends trusted him.

- 6 What would have happened if social media had not been created? Discuss with your friends. Make a list of ideas. Then share with the class.

LISTENING

I can identify main points of a discussion about a street artist.

- Describe these artworks murals by controversial British artist Banksy. Discuss what you think they mean.

A ■ ■ ■ ■	B ■ ■ ■ ■	C ■ ■ ■ ■
_____	_____	alteration
_____	_____	_____
_____	_____	_____

- 5.07 Listen, check and repeat.

1 Discuss the questions.

- 1 When was the last time you took a selfie and why did you take it?
- 2 Why do you think selfies are so popular?

2 Choose the correct option. Then read the text and check your ideas.

- 1 The first teenage selfie was taken in 1839 / 1914 / 2006.
- 2 The word 'selfie' originated in Russia / Australia / New York.

3 Read the article again. Complete the sentences with up to five words from the article in the correct form.

- 1 Anybody who _____ media is also likely to be a selfie-taker, and this doesn't just mean young people.
- 2 Although Britney Spears and Paris Hilton claim to have taken the first selfie ever, the real pioneer was 19th century photographer Robert Cornelius, whose _____ was taken in 1839.
- 3 The first teenager to take a selfie was a young Russian princess who managed to do it by _____ in a mirror.
- 4 The term 'selfie' comes out of the Australian _____ adding -ie to the end of words.
- 5 'Selfitis' is a term for people who _____ and post them on social media in order to feel happier or more accepted.

4 5.08 Complete the phrases with the verbs in blue in the text. Then listen, check and repeat.

- 1 become mainstream = be ordinary or normal
- 2 _____ back to = begin at a time in the past
- 3 _____ popularity = become more popular
- 4 _____ a habit of = do sth regularly
- 5 _____ a claim = state that sth is true
- 6 _____ = try to do
- 7 _____ sth off = get rid of 5 Complete the questions with one word in each gap. Then answer the questions according to the information in the text.

- 1 When did smartphones become _____?
- 2 Who made the _____ that they had invented the selfie?
- 3 When does the oldest selfie date back _____ and how was it taken?
- 4 What do Australians have a habit _____ adding to the end of words?
- 5 What might some people _____ by taking a lot of selfies?
- 6 What can taking lots of selfies help you to shake _____?
- 7 What kind of apps are gaining _____ and why?

6 SURVEY YOUR FRIENDS.

Go around the class and ask your friends. Then write their answers in your notebook.

- 1 When was the last time you took a selfie on your smartphone?
- 2 How do you usually do for selfies – is it a smile, duck-face or wink?
- 3 Think of your favourite photo. When and where was it taken?

A short history of the selfie

5.09

They're everywhere – people posing with their phones held out in front of them or on a selfie-stick. And it's not just young people – social media users of all ages take selfies, including space-walking astronauts and the Pope.

So when did this selfie mania begin? Most people would guess that it was around the beginning of this century or perhaps a bit later when smartphones became mainstream. But most people would be wrong, just as Britney Spears and Paris Hilton were wrong when they declared on Twitter in 2017 that they had invented the selfie eleven years previously. In fact, they were around 167 years too late to make that claim. The oldest existing selfie dates back to 1839 when photographer Robert Cornelius took a self-portrait photograph of himself. To achieve this, he had to uncover the lens, run to his place and pose in the same position for up to fifteen minutes and then run back to cover the lens again. Cornelius couldn't take a dozen shots and choose the best

And what about the origin of the word itself? It is thought to come from Australia where people have a habit of putting -ie on the end of words – barbie for barbecue, postie for postal worker and even Aussie for Australian. In 2002, an Australian man took a photo of an injury to his lip and put it up on a public forum to ask for advice on how to treat it. He referred to the photo as a selfie, and the term was born. Selfie became Oxford Dictionaries' word of the year in 2013.

So, why do we take so many photos of ourselves? A 2017 study into 'selfitis', as the obsessive taking of selfies has been called, found a range of motivations, from seeking to feel more part of a group to shaking off depressive thoughts and – of course – capturing a memorable moment. Since we live so much of our lives online, there is pressure to present good quality images, and so it is no surprise that airbrushing apps that enable people to retouch images and present an idealised version of themselves are gaining popularity.

Mixed conditionals

I can use mixed conditionals to talk about hypothetical situations in the past or present.

- 1 Read the text and find out what these two British actors think about their screen characters.

ACTORS LIKE THEIR SCREEN CHARACTERS, OR DO THEY?

Daniel Radcliffe

Daniel Radcliffe doesn't mind being called Harry Potter. If he hadn't played the part of Harry Potter, he wouldn't be one of the richest young stars in cinema today. But there have been times when his fame has been difficult for him to deal with. If he was less famous, he would have gone out dancing with his friends more, but sadly, he's never had that freedom.

Robert Pattinson didn't like the character he played in the Twilight series. He says that if Edward Cullen wasn't a fictional character, he would have been a troubled young man. Pattinson understands that he wouldn't be so mega-famous if he hadn't played the role of Edward Cullen, but he says it's really weird being famous for a character he doesn't like.

Robert Pattinson

- 2 Read the text again and match the real situations with the real results or consequences.

Situations

- 1 Radcliffe played Harry Potter.
- 2 Radcliffe is very famous.
- 3 Edward Cullen is fictional.
- 4 Pattinson played Edward Cullen.

Results

- a He didn't go out dancing much.
- b He is very famous.
- c He is very rich.
- d He wasn't a troubled young man.

- 3 Match the four conditional sentences in blue in the text with the four real situations and results in Exercise 2.

- 4 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and complete the gaps with past or present.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Mixed conditionals

You use a mixed conditional to describe certain imaginary situations and their imaginary results. There are two main types:

- 1 imaginary ¹present condition → imaginary ²_____ result

If + Past Simple, would / wouldn't have + Past Participle

If he was less famous, he would have gone out dancing with his friends more.

- 2 imaginary ³_____ condition → imaginary ⁴_____ result

If + Past Perfect, would / wouldn't + verb

If he hadn't played the part of Harry Potter, he wouldn't be one of the richest young stars in cinema today.

Note: As well as would, you can also use could, might and should in conditional sentences.

- 5 For each sentence, tick the explanations (a, b or both) that are correct.

- 1 If I'd watched the Twilight films, I'd know who Edward Cullen was.

A I didn't watch the Twilight films. ☐

B I know who Edward Cullen is. ☐

- 2 If I was interested in Harry Potter, I'd have read the books.

A I'm not interested in Harry Potter. ☐

B I haven't read any of the books. ☐

- 3 If Robert Pattinson was ugly, I might not have watched Twilight.

A Robert Pattinson is handsome. ☐

B I watched Twilight. ☐

- 4 Pattinson and Radcliffe wouldn't be enjoying so much success if they hadn't worked hard on these roles.

A They aren't enjoying success. ☐

B They worked hard on these roles. ☐

- 6 Complete the sentences to make them true for you. Compare with a partner.

- 1 If I didn't have a smartphone, (imaginary past result) _____

- 2 If antibiotics hadn't been invented, (imaginary present result) _____

- 3 If I had been born in the USA, (imaginary present result) _____

- 4 If I could fly, (imaginary past result) _____

- 5 If I was a better student, (imaginary past result) _____

- 6 If my dad hadn't woken me up this morning, (imaginary present result) _____

- 7 If my parents were famous actors, (imaginary past result) _____

USE OF ENGLISH

Compound nouns and adjectives

I can understand and use compound words.

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF A NEWS ANCHOR

I'm a news anchor on the morning show of a local TV station. The question I get asked most is what time I get up. 3.00 a.m.! And I'm in hair and make-up at 4.30. I wear block colours – no stripes or frills, and no green. We sometimes use green screens so that artificial backgrounds can be superimposed. So if you wear a green top, it doesn't show up against a green background and you appear as a floating head and a pair of arms and legs – very ill-advised and not a good look!

We go live at 6.00 a.m., and before that I have to read up on the day's news stories. I start by getting an overview of the stories

I'll be reporting. We're a local news station, so we don't report on foreign affairs.

You can't rehearse – you have to deal with breaking news as it comes in, but I have a lot of backup. A fact-checker has made sure the details of the story are accurate, a copy editor makes sure stories are written in a way that I'd actually say them and when I'm live on air if I become tongue-tied or mess up, have the director in my ear.

1 Decide whether you think the following statements are true (T) or false (F). Then read the article to check your ideas.

- 1 A news anchor can't wear green. ☐
- 2 A news anchor can't rehearse the stories. ☐
- 3 A news anchor can't hear the director while she / he is on-air. ☐

2 Read and complete the LANGUAGE FOCUS with the examples in blue from the article.

3 Match the words from boxes A and B to make common compound colour adjectives. What things can you describe using these colours?

blood charcoal lime nut sky lemon snow

blue brown grey red yellow green white

a blood-red sky, a blood-red rose, blood-red lips

4 Rewrite the following descriptions using compound adjectives. Use a dictionary if necessary.

- 1 A young woman with rosy cheeks
- 2 A child with curly hair
- 3 An old man with thin lips
- 4 A young sportsman with broad shoulders
- 5 A high jumper with long legs
- 6 A teenager with a kind heart

5 Work in pairs. Ask and answer: Would you like to be a news anchor or work in television? Why / Why not? Use compound nouns in your dialogue.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Compound nouns and adjectives

Compound nouns

- A compound noun is normally made up of two words. The first word describes or modifies the second word: a ¹*morning show* = a show that is on in the morning. Compare: a company car (a type of car) and a car company (a type of company).
- Compound nouns can consist of:
noun + noun: ²_____ anchor, newsreader, health check adjective + noun: ³_____ affairs verb-ing + noun: breaking ⁴_____ preposition + noun: ⁵_____ view
- A significant number of compound nouns are made from phrasal verbs: back sth up → a ⁶_____, crack down on sth → a crack-down
- Compound nouns can be written as one word, two words or with a hyphen. Check in a dictionary. The stress is usually on the first syllable.

Compound adjectives

- A compound adjective is usually made from two words and usually written with a hyphen.
- Compound adjectives can consist of:
number + noun: three-minute, twenty-four-hour
adjective + noun: high-quality, present-day, deep-sea noun + adjective: user-friendly, waist-high, weatherproof noun / adjective / adverb + -ed / -ing participle: mouth-watering, short-lived, far-fetched, kind-hearted, weather-beaten, broad-shouldered, flat-footed, ⁷_____, ⁸_____ verb + preposition / adverb: made-up, unheard-of
- Some compound adjectives are made from more than two words: four-year-old, state-of-the-art
- The noun in a compound adjective is usually singular: a four-hour programme NOT a four-hours programme

A review of a TV series

I can write a review of a television series.

1 Discuss the questions in groups.

- 1 Which old TV series do you consider to be classics and why?
- 2 Which of today's TV series do you think are the classics of the future and why?
- 3 What do you know about the series shown in the picture?

2 Read the review. If you have seen Stranger Things, do you agree with the writer's opinion of it? If you haven't, does the review make you want to watch the series? Explain your answers.

- 1 Take a nostalgic journey back to small-town America in the 1980s with Netflix's dark mystery Stranger Things. This excellent show is heavily influenced by the books and films of Stephen King and Steven Spielberg. Series creators, the Duffer brothers, have combined action, humour and horror to create a well-reviewed sci-fi drama. As far as I'm concerned, it's a TV classic.

- 2 In season one of Stranger Things, a schoolboy named Will goes missing. His friends, mother and the rest of the town become part of a series of mysterious events involving an unusual young girl named Eleven. It soon becomes clear that something even stranger is hiding in the woods of their town. In season two, the town and its inhabitants are once again threatened by supernatural forces and we are reminded that the worst villains are not always the monsters. Season three not only presents a continuation of this theme, but also shows how the main characters and their relationships have developed with time.

- 3 Stranger Things is a brilliant show with an unforgettable soundtrack. The plot explores friendships, family ties and even romance. The young cast give wonderful performances and the show is beautifully shot. Unlike many modern shows, it doesn't rely too heavily on special effects. While season one is not particularly scary, seasons two and three are more strongly influenced by horror films and are terrifying at times.

- 4 All in all, Stranger Things offers viewers a gripping story with plenty of twists and turns. From the opening scene, it feels as though you are watching a future TV classic. I can't recommend it enough and have no doubt that people will be talking about it for many years to come.

3 Read the review again and match points a–d below with paragraphs 1–4.

- a Summarise your opinions and make a recommendation. ☐
- b Give your opinion on the story, acting, dialogue, special effects, etc. ☐
- c Give key information: the name of the series, where and when it is set etc., and your overall opinion. ☐
- d Summarise the story but don't give any spoilers. ☐

4 Read the WRITING FOCUS and find examples of each point in the review.

WRITING FOCUS

A review

The goal of a review is to give your personal opinion about something, e.g. a film, a series or a book. The opinion should be supported with examples and recommendations should be given at the end. Reviews are usually written for newspapers, websites or magazines and therefore have a fairly informal style.

Introduction

- Attract readers' attention with an interesting opening sentence.
- Mention the type of show, the stars / director / writer, the setting, obvious influences, etc.
- State your overall opinion.

Main paragraphs

- Use present tenses to give more details about the plot and the main characters.
- Use present or past tenses to say what you liked / didn't like about the TV series.

a cyberbullying

b fake news

c loss of personal information

- 2 5.10 Read and listen to the dialogue between Lan and Richard. Complete the dialogue with ONE OR TWO WORDS.

Lan: Hi Richard, have you been following the news about issues on social media in Việt Nam?

Richard: Yes, I have. There have been a lot of problems these days.

Lan: I find cyberbullying the most serious issue though. Many people post, or share negative content about someone else.

Richard: ¹ _____. It's important to create a safe and respectful online environment for everyone. I'm ² _____ that social media platforms should take steps to prevent cyberbullying.

Lan: What do you think might be solutions to this problem, Richard?

Richard: ³ _____, I think to reduce cyberbullying, young people should avoid personal attacks or insults in face-to-face contacts first and then on social media later. They should be respectful towards others' opinions, personalities and appearances, and this should be taught early in the school system.

Lan: I couldn't ⁴ _____. At the same time, there are also concerns about loss of personal information on these social platforms.

Richard: Oh, yes, some people collect a lot of personal data from users, and post them on social media. I wonder how this data is being used and who has access to it.

Lan: Plus, there are concerns about fake news, too. It could be ⁵ _____ that young people should learn to be critical of news on social media. They should always double-check the sources of news. If something is fake, they should report it immediately.

Richard: I agree that it's ⁶ _____. Parents and teachers need to develop critical thinking of their children and students as early as they can.

Lan: I suppose you could say that ...

READING

- 5 Read the article. Complete the sentences with up to three words from the article in the correct form.

THE POWER OF IMAGES

It's often said that a picture is worth a thousand words. There's something appealing about images that makes them a powerful tool for communication.

As you scroll through your social media feed or browse a news website, what is it that prompts you to read on? The chances are that it's the images that attract your attention. Online content that is accompanied by an image is more likely to prompt engagement, in the form of clicks, likes and shares, than straightforward text. This phenomenon is especially important to digital marketers.

They will tell you that on average people only read around 20 percent of the text on a web page. When it comes to remembering information, it is said that we retain around 80 percent of what we see versus only 20 percent of what we read and just 10 percent of what we hear. Although these figures are criticised by experts as an oversimplification, visuals do play an important role in how we deal with content in an information-rich world. Producing eye-catching visuals to attach to digital content is vital for anyone who wants to get their message across to the maximum number of people.

It's not only in the commercial world that the power of the image is being recognised. Governments and NGOs such as the World Health Organisation are acknowledging the importance of social media in communicating public health messages. Research into social media engagement during one recent disease outbreak, for example, found that it was image-based platforms such as Instagram that were most effective in communicating vital health messages. Whilst there is some concern amongst healthcare professionals that what starts off as helpful messages can easily get distorted as they're shared and reshared, specialists say that social media has huge potential for promoting public health.

Political journalists and campaigners have also long understood the power of an image. In a social media age, though, just posting a striking image that is sure to go viral has been labelled by some as 'slacktivism'. That is the idea that people will like and share an image without really thinking about the ideas behind it or engaging with the political message. The challenge for activists, journalists, marketers and governments is to develop a social media strategy that includes eye-catching visuals but is also more than skin deep.

- When looking at information online, people are far more likely _____ with content if it includes an image of some kind.
- This fact is exploited by those working in _____ to help make their messages stand out.
- Apparently, we remember only a tiny percentage of information in the form of text or audio, but a much greater proportion of ideas presented in the form _____.
- Images are also increasingly being used by official bodies to communicate _____ to the widest possible audience and by journalists and activists to promote political campaigns.
- The use of eye-catching images that quickly go _____ has been criticised as an example of 'slacktivism' because it is superficial and doesn't really engage people with the underlying message.

Multiculturalism in America

From its beginning, America has been a multicultural society. But recently, many Americans want special privileges for minority groups. Today, a growing number of Americans feel their country has changed too much and they say relations among the different groups is often challenging. Some people feel things have gone too far in America's attempts to treat everyone equally. This is when members of the majority group adopt cultural elements of a minority group in an exploitive or disrespectful way. It seems everyone has a different interpretation of what is acceptable, which means people are constantly worried that what they are saying or doing may be considered rude by others.

Multiculturalism in Singapore

Singapore is a unique case where multiculturalism seems to thrive. Singapore has three main ethnic groups: the Malays, Chinese, and Indians. All three groups generally get along well, and they continue their traditions, beliefs and lifestyles. This is most noticeable in their festivals. The Muslims in Singapore celebrate Hari Raya Puasa, which marks the end of the Muslim fasting month of Ramadan. It's a time to strengthen bonds within the community. Similarly, the Chinese celebrate Lunar New Years by giving hong bao (red envelopes with money) to children. The Indian community celebrates Deepavali (Festival of Lights) with sweet treats and lighting little lamps in the doorways of their homes. While each community celebrates its own festivals, all the other communities politely join in during these public holidays.

Multiculturalism in France

Like America, France has a large number of minority groups. But an important difference is that the French, regardless of where they came from, are expected to act French and become French. Some French don't recognize different rights or obligations of different cultures. They welcome immigrants because they know the immigrants want to be like the French and want to respect the French way of life. Thus, when immigrants don't assimilate into the main population, problems arise.

- 1 In (America / France / Singapore), celebrating the country's different cultural festivals is important.
- 2 (America / France / Singapore) expects its immigrants to act like the dominant culture.
- 3 In (America / France / Singapore), people find establishing relationships between the different ethnic groups challenging.
- 4 In (America / France / Singapore), there seem to be many different interpretations about what is acceptable.
- 5 In (America / France / Singapore), problems arise when immigrants don't want to assimilate into the dominant culture.
- 6 In (America / France / Singapore), multiculturalism thrives better than in the other two countries.

4 Read the texts again and choose the best option.

- 1 What is the main argument of the text about America?
 - a America has always been a monocultural society.
 - b Many Americans want special privileges for majority groups.
 - c Multiculturalism led to challenging relations among different groups.
 - d Cultural appropriation is an acceptable practice.
- 2 What is the main argument of the text about Singapore?
 - a Singapore is a monocultural society.
 - b Multiculturalism is thriving in Singapore.
 - c Singapore has only two main ethnic groups.
 - d The ethnic groups in Singapore don't get along well.
- 3 What is the main argument of the text about France?
 - a France has no minority groups.
 - b France recognizes and respects different cultures.
 - c French immigrants don't want to assimilate into the main population.
 - d French immigrants want to assimilate into the dominant culture.

5 With a partner, discuss what is considered polite and rude in your community. Consider behaviour, ways of speaking, values, etc.

In my community, it is considered rude to ...
People here are expected to ...
It's not polite to ...
It is considered polite to ... while you are ...

Relative clauses with which

I can use relative clauses with which to replace the whole sentence to talk about the challenges of living in a multicultural society.

1 Work in pairs. Which statements do you agree with and why?

- 1 It must be interesting to live in a multicultural society.
- 2 People in multicultural societies always get along.
- 3 The minority cultures and indigenous cultures are dominant in a multicultural society.
- 4 People from the dominant culture always behave well towards the new immigrants.

2 Read a text about the challenges of living in a multicultural society in the UK. Answer the questions.

In spite of its advantages, multiculturalism also has its problems. In the UK, housing is an issue for many immigrants. Immigrants often rent flats, which allows many of them to live in a single unit. A family of seven might share a flat, which is not quite convenient for a family of four. Landlords sometimes don't rent their houses or flats to immigrants. Similarly, language is also an issue. Many immigrants don't speak English or don't speak it very well, so they have difficulties getting better jobs. Lastly, when the economy is bad, immigrants may face difficulty finding jobs, which again badly affects the economy. But if the economy is good, immigrants are often welcomed.

- 1 What are three problems immigrants face in the UK?
- 2 Why do some immigrants face difficulties in finding jobs?
- 3 When are immigrants not welcomed to the UK?

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Find examples of relative clauses with which that refers to a sentence in the text.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Relative clauses beginning with relative pronouns, such as which can be used to refer to a whole sentence.

Our customs are unique. It makes us proud of our country. → Our customs are unique, which makes us proud of our country.

4 Find and correct ONE mistake in each sentence.

- 1 My grandparents want to pass down our culture to the younger people, which are not surprising to us.
- 2 The older generation is working hard to preserve their old way of life which is a good thing in our multicultural society.
- 3 It is bad manners not to share food with others, and which I strongly disagree.
- 4 Newlyweds often go on a honeymoon which is a traditional custom.
- 5 In my country, waiting for the eldest person to eat first is the norm, who is something I really like.

5 Work in groups. Make five sentences about living in a multicultural country, using relative clauses referring to a whole sentence. Read the sentences out loud to the other group.

Some minority groups assimilate more easily than others, which is a good thing.
My grandparents came to Canada from their homeland, which we all feel proud of.

- 3 6.09 Listen to a talk of an Indian student sharing about how her family members participate in cultural activities to celebrate their family's cultural diversity.

1 List the activities mentioned in the talk.

2 Identify the verbs and prepositions used in her talk.

- 4 Read and complete the text with the correct preposition.

We live in a multicultural family, so conflicts often arise due to differences in beliefs and values. However, my parents have found ¹_____ solutions to resolve them. Firstly, they make sure each time they have different ideas, they will communicate openly and honestly ²_____ each other. They engage ³_____ active listening and ensure that the other's opinions and feelings are respected. Secondly, our family participate ⁴_____ cultural events and traditions to learn about others' backgrounds. For example, my mum specialises ⁵_____ cooking traditional dishes from her Indian culture, and my dad excels ⁶_____ playing musical instruments from his Irish background. Lastly, my parents deal ⁷_____ conflicts directly by apologizing ⁸_____ hurtful actions or words.

- 5 Work in groups. Write five sentences about how your family maintain its cultural identity (e.g., family history, values, traditions, and beliefs). Use the verbs and prepositions in this lesson.

WRITING

An essay

I can write an essay about the advantages and disadvantages of living in a multicultural country.

- 1 Discuss the photo below in a group. Which country do they live in? What are their different cultural heritages? How are these people similar and different?

- 2 Read the essay and take notes into the column.

Living in a multicultural country like America has its advantages and disadvantages. This essay discusses both the pros and cons of the American multicultural society.

On the pros side, a very diverse population, with the Caucasians making up 58% and the Hispanics comprising 19%, can bring different perspectives and ideas to the table. This diversity can lead to more dynamic and innovative solutions to problems, particularly in business, science, and the arts.

However, there is another side to having a diverse population. Diversity leads to language barriers, particularly when groups are resistant to learning the country's national language. According to the US Census Bureau, as of 2019, nearly 20% of the US population aged 5 years and older spoke a language other than English at home. Inability to speak the national language can lead to difficulties in accessing education, healthcare, and job opportunities, and can also contribute to social isolation.

In conclusion, living in a multicultural country in America has both benefits and drawbacks. It is important for individuals to recognize and address existing challenges to create a truly inclusive and respectful multicultural community.

- 3 Read the WRITING FOCUS and find examples of statistics in the sample essay.

WRITING FOCUS

Giving statistics in essays has a number of ways:

- 1 Citing a source within the essay
According to a recent survey by XYZ organization, 70% of respondents reported feeling stressed in a multicultural workplace.
- 2 Presenting the statistics in a table or graph following the essay
As shown in Table 1, the number of employees facing discrimination in multinational companies has increased by 10% in the past five years.
- 3 Comparing two or more statistics
While the number of women in management positions has increased by 20% in the past decade, the gender pay gap has only decreased by 5%.
- 4 Analyzing statistics over a period
The unemployment rate in Việt Nam has steadily increased from 10% in 2010 to 14% in 2020.
- 5 Ranking
According to the World Happiness Report, Finland, Denmark, and Switzerland provide the top three happiest working environments in the world.

- 4 Which way mentioned in the WRITING FOCUS is used to present statistics in the following examples.

- 1 According to the 2021 report, 60% of employees in the company are from different cultural backgrounds.
- 2 The top three countries of origin for international employees are India, China, and the United States.
- 3 Women account for 45% of the company's total workforce while men make up the rest.
- 4 The company has seen a 25% increase in the number of international employees over the past five years.
- 5 The bar chart shows that the average age of employees is 32 years old.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

- To introduce numbers: comprise / make up / account for / consist of / include
The workforce of the company comprises employees from over 20 different nationalities.
- To show exact numbers: precisely / exactly
In 2019, the US reached exactly 20%.
- To show approximate numbers: roughly / about / around / approximately Roughly 50% of the employees speak English as a second language.

5 Read the description and circle the statistics on the right.

VOCABULARY

Artificial Intelligence (AI)

I can talk about the spread use of artificial intelligence.

- 1 Look at the photos. What applications of artificial intelligence can you name?

- 2 7.01 Listen and read the text about artificial intelligence. Choose the correct answers to the questions on page 77.

Artificial intelligence (AI) is an attempt to copy human intelligence and behavior patterns. You can see AI applications in your daily life such as Google Translate, voice recognition, face recognition, personal assistant, or Siri. One of the AI techniques is machine learning. This technique teaches computers not by rules, but by learning from data. Deep learning is a machine learning technique that teaches computers to learn from only one type of data-experience. Two other important components of modern AI are reinforcement learning and neural networks. Reinforcement learning is a machine learning training method based on rewarding desired behaviors, and neural networks is a method of teaching computers to process data in a way similar to how our brains work.

VOCABULARY FOCUS A

AI

artificial intelligence deep learning machine learning neural networks reinforcement learning

3 Circle the correct option.

- 1 Humans learn by using their neural networks / artificial intelligence.
- 2 Computers can learn by rules or by machine learning / neural networks.
- 3 Deep learning / Reinforcement learning is a way of teaching that rewards positive behaviors.
- 4 Artificial intelligence / Reinforcement learning tries to copy how we behave.
- 5 Scientists have taught computers to analyze patterns by machine learning / deep learning.

- 1 What is artificial intelligence?
 - a It is a type of computer system used for learning.
 - b It is a type of neural network used for working.
 - c It is an effort to imitate people's thoughts and behaviors.
- 2 What is machine learning?
 - a It is a type of AI.
 - b It is a type of deep learning.
 - c It is an example of reinforcement learning.
- 3 How does machine learning work?
 - a It works by experience.
 - b It works by reinforcement learning and neural networks.
 - c It works by teaching computers to learn by analysing data.
- 4 What is deep learning?
 - a It is a machine learning technique.
 - b It is a type of experience.
 - c It is a type of reinforcement learning.
- 5 What type of data does deep learning use?
 - a Neural network data
 - b Experience data
 - c Numerical data
- 6 What do we call learning by rewarding behaviour?
 - a Deep learning
 - b Machine learning
 - c Reinforcement learning

- 1 transformative ☐
- 2 autonomous ☐
- 3 innovative ☐
- 4 adaptive ☐
- 5 predictive ☐
- 6 creative ☐
- 7 efficient ☐

5 Use the words in VOCABULARY FOCUS B to say which AI technique or application you like most and why.

VOCABULARY FOCUS B

Transformative:

- Verbs: revolutionize, change, transform
- Nouns: technology, innovation, progress

Autonomous:

- Verbs: operate, function, control
- Nouns: system, robot, vehicle, device

Innovative:

- Verbs: create, invent, develop
- Nouns: software, algorithm, tool

Adaptive:

- Verbs: modify, evolve, learn
- Nouns: system, algorithm, model

Predictive:

- Verbs: forecast, predict, estimate
- Nouns: model, algorithm, analysis

Creative:

- Verbs: generate, create, design, invent
- Nouns: software, tool, system, application

Efficient:

- Verbs: optimize, improve, enhance
- Nouns: system, tool, technique

An AI application I like most is _____ on my phone. It is a transformative technology that changes my life.

An AI technology I like most is _____. It is an efficient tool that can enhance my memory.

The application I'm most interested in is _____. It can forecast things that happen in the future. It is predictive.

Simple sentences vs compound sentences vs complex sentences
I can use compound, complex and simple sentences (Review) to talk about chatbots.

- 1 Look at the photo. She is communicating with a chatbot. How do you feel about communicating with a chatbot?

- 2 Read about a chatbot. What are the advantages of a chatbot?

It's now common to interact online with a chatbot, a type of AI. One advantage chatbots have for business owners is that they can be autonomous and provide 24/7 customer service. While they are responding to your customers, your human agents can use their time to focus on cases requiring a human customer service agent. Chatbots can also collect data to help you get to know your customers' needs and the types of products they want. Chatbots are an efficient way to help improve your customer service experiences. They are adaptive and predictive, so they only present information that meets your customers' needs. Because they are more personalized and efficient, they find innovative ways to promote different products while they interact with your customers.

- 3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and find complex, compound and simple sentences in the text.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Simple sentences

- Contains a subject and predicate
Chatbots can answer the phone 24/7.
- It's also called an independent clause because it's a complete sentence.

Compound sentences

- Contains two (or more) independent clauses
- The clauses are linked by a coordinating conjunction.
Chatbots can answer the phone 24/7, and they can also record customer data.
- Coordinating conjunctions include: for, and, nor, but, or, yet, so, therefore, however, because, although

Complex sentences

- Contains an independent and a dependent clause.
- The dependent clause begins with a subordinating conjunction.
After a chatbot finishes a call, it records then adds the customer data to the database.
- Subordinating conjunctions include: after, before, because, since, if, while, so, that, wherever, etc.

- 4 Read the sentences and tick (✓) the correct type for each sentence.

	Simple	Compound	Complex
1 Because they respond to students' questions 24/7, online learning sites now use chatbots.
2 Digital marketers love chatbots, and they are using chatbots more often.
3 Chatbots are useful in education because they can analyse students' mistakes.
4 Digital marketers use chatbots to create more personalized experiences for customers.
5 Chatbots can replace some human customer service agents, so they save companies a lot of money.
6 I think chatbots will someday replace many different jobs.

- 5 Divide into two teams. Team 1 is for and Team 2 is against the following statement:
Chatbots should be used in education.

Each team spends five minutes in their group preparing, then the teams debate the issue. Use different types of sentence structures in your talk.

For

- provide personalized feedback and support to students based on their individual learning needs and preferences.
- be available 24/7, providing students with access to learning resources and support outside of traditional classroom hours.
- ...

Against

- may not provide the same level of interaction and feedback as human teachers
- encounter technical issues, such as misunderstandings or errors in their responses
- ...

LISTENING

Multiple choice

I can listen for speaker's attitudes about artificial intelligence.

- 1 How do you recognise people's attitudes about something in a dialogue?

- 2 Which of the following AI applications have you used to learn English?

- 1 Duolingo
- 2 Google Translate
- 3 a chatbot
- 4 From-Text-To-Speech

Tell your partner about your experiences with each of these applications.

I am very interested in using From-Text-To-Speech in my studies. I can create audios based on written texts.

- 3 7.03 Listen to a conversation between Mr. Minh and his son, Trí. Choose the correct option.

- 1 Which best describes Mr. Minh's attitude towards using Google Translate to do homework?
 - a enthusiastic
 - b indifferent
 - c upset
- 2 Which best describes Trí's attitude towards using Google Translate to do homework?
 - a enthusiastic
 - b indifferent
 - c upset
- 3 What is the purpose of this sentence: I don't believe it.
 - a to show surprise
 - b to check information
 - c to signal uncertainty
- 4 What is the purpose of this sentence: Other benefits?
 - a to show surprise
 - b to check information
 - c to signal a question
- 5 What is the purpose of this sentence: It's not that important.
 - a to show surprise
 - b to check information
 - c to signal uncertainty

- 4 7.04 Listen to the dialogue again. Decide if the following sentences are true (T) or false (F).

- 1 Trí thinks it is not necessary to study English in classes. _____
- 2 Mr. Minh believes the translation apps are good enough. _____
- 3 Mr. Minh thinks that a learner should learn about cultures as they learn languages. _____
- 4 Trí thinks it is not important to communicate with others and learn about cultures. _____
- 5 Mr. Minh advises Trí to use Google Translate more often while doing his homework. _____

- 5 Work in two teams. Team 1 is for and Team 2 is against the following statement:

- Accessibility
- Speed
- Accuracy
- Contextual understanding

PRONUNCIATION FOCUS: INTONATION AT THE END OF SENTENCES

- 6 7.05 Read about the intonation at the end of sentences. Then listen and repeat.

Rising intonation at the end of a sentence

To signal using a statement as a question

To signal checking / confirming

To signal uncertainty / doubt

Falling intonation at the end of a sentence

To signal an exclamation

To signal a command

- I don't believe it.
- I'm not sure why we even have English classes anymore.
- Other benefits.
- It's not that important.
- So, for now on, don't use Google Translate for your homework.

READING

Multiple choice

I can identify the argument and tone in an article about AI.

1 Which of the following do you think AI can do? Tick (✓).

- a It can predict our future. ☐
- b It can generate texts on different topics. ☐
- c It can translate one language into another. ☐
- d It can answer a wide range of questions. ☐
- e It can show emotions about an issue. ☐

2 Read the article. Underline the highlighted words in the article you know. Use a dictionary to find the meaning of the others.

AI is starting to affect all of our lives. Although it's new, some of the advantages that it brings are impressive. However, there are potential risks associated with AI that must be considered.

A huge advantage of using AI is that it saves you time by doing tasks for you. Instead of web developers writing hundreds of lines of code to build a website, AI can do it for you. It also can help people write business documents, stories, marketing resources in just a few seconds. Another way AI helps students is that unlike a teacher, it is available 24/7 anywhere you are. It's in a way like having your own personal tutor with you wherever you go. Many students feel too shy to ask their teachers questions in class. But AI allows you to ask questions without worrying. AI can be used to fine-tune a search, so it only provides you with the most relevant information you need. For example, if you ask it to write an essay about digital marketing and you want more information about digital marketing on Facebook, AI can redo the task, but this time focus only on marketing with Facebook.

However, the use of AI has some certain drawbacks. One of the key concerns is the potential bias in the responses given by AI. In 2022, researchers at Stanford University found that AI generated toxic and biased language when responding to certain topics and phrases. Another potential risk of AI is that it could be used to create fake news, videos or other forms of media. This could be used to spread false information.

In brief, AI is likely to transform the way we interact with technology and save us time and effort in studies and work due to its efficiency, but it can also result in potential risks such as discriminatory language or the creation of fake news.

VOCABULARY FOCUS

3 Complete the sentences with ONE WORD from the phrases in red in the text.

- 1 The possibility of AI to revolutionize healthcare is _____, but we must be cautious of its ability to extend _____ biases in healthcare systems.
- 2 With the help of an AI-powered _____, many Vietnamese students can receive personalized attention and support to _____ their learning experience.
- 3 Web developers utilize AI technology to _____ stunning websites by generating lines of codes.
- 4 The use of AI can help _____ the way we generate and handle _____ and biased language.

4 Choose the correct answer to the following questions.

- 1 How many advantages of AI are mentioned in the article?
A Three B Four C Five
- 2 Which disadvantage of AI is NOT mentioned in the article?
A Biased responses
B Spread of fake news
C Loss of personal information
- 3 What is the writer's position towards AI?
A The writer is more positive about AI.
B The writer is more worried about AI's potential risks.
C The writer is equally positive and negative about AI.
- 4 What is the writer's tone when writing the article?
A The writer is subjective.
B The writer is objective.
C The writer is biased.

5 Read the text again. Fill in each gap in the summary with ONE WORD from the article.

SUMMARY FOCUS

AI is affecting all our ¹ _____.
AI brings many impressive ² _____ to our lives.

AI's benefits:

- 1 It can do ³ _____ tasks for us (like documents and code).
- 2 It saves us time and ⁴ _____.
- 3 It can answer our questions like a personal ⁵ _____.
- 4 It only provides us with ⁶ _____ information.

6 Some people say that if AI continues to develop in the future, students will no longer need to go to school. Do you agree or disagree? Discuss in your group and then present your ideas to the class.

Why schools will not be necessary

- The transformative potential of technology and innovation in education could revolutionize the way humans learn.
- Autonomous systems and devices, such as robots or AI-powered tutors, could provide individualized instruction and feedback.
- Innovative software and tools could foster creativity and critical thinking skills.
- Creative applications of technology and software could generate new forms of learning and collaboration.

Why schools will still be necessary

- AI may not be able to provide the same level of emotional support and guidance that human teachers can offer.
- AI may not be able to provide real-world examples.
- AI may not be able to address the diverse learning needs and preferences of students in the same way that human teachers can.
- Schools provide an environment for students to engage in extracurricular activities that may not be possible through AI-powered learning platforms.

GRAMMAR

Causative verbs: get something done / have somebody do something

I can use causative verbs.

1 What are the people doing?

2 7.06 Read and listen to a housewife, Mrs. Nga, talking about how she uses AI at home. Tick (✓) the statements Mrs. Nga would agree with.

Actually, we use AI every day at home to get things done, but we are unaware of it. I use a smart assistant, like Alexa and Siri, to have my voice commands translated into action. When I'm busy I have it find me a good nearby Japanese restaurant or have it tell me when the next flight to Hà Nội leaves. I don't like to have my husband make me coffee in the morning. He never does it the way I like it, but my coffee machine has learned my schedule and makes a fresh cup of coffee for me just the way I like it. My kids leave the air conditioner on all the time, so I get my smart thermostat to turn the air-conditioner off when no one is in the room. I can't get my kids to vacuum the floor. But I can easily get my AI cleaner to vacuum the floor. It knows our rooms, moves around obstacles and just gets the job done without any problems.

- 1 Most people don't realize that they are already using AI. ☐
- 2 Siri is an example of AI. ☐

- 3 Smart assistants can be helpful in finding information for home users. ☐
- 4 A coffee machine makes coffee just the way a human makes it. ☐
- 5 A smart thermostat helps save energy. ☐
- 6 An AI cleaner can't vacuum the floor. ☐

3 Underline in the text above examples of the two structures below.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Causative verbs are used to indicate that someone or something causes another person to do something or causes something to happen.

- have / get + object + past participle
- get + someone / something + to + verb (infinitive)

4 Rewrite the sentences, using have / get something done or have somebody / something do something. Use the given clues in brackets.

- 1 John cooked dinner for us. [We / cooked]

- 2 It was unethical that AI did homework for you. [got / do]

- 3 You are not allowed to pay someone else to write the report for you. [You / written]

- 4 The maid came and cleaned up the kitchen. [I / cleaned]

- 5 Xuân was sick so she had someone take her to the doctor. [Xuân / got / take her]

- 6 Siri found out the time the restaurant closes. [got / find / when]

5 What will you use AI for in your home? Think about different types of AI you can use for your home. Tell your partners and use causative verbs in your explanations.

USE OF ENGLISH

I can use phrasal verbs with two prepositions to talk about AI.

1 7.07 Listen to the dialogue and decide if the statements below are true (T) or false (F).

- 1 Lan likes the new game. _____
- 2 The game lets you turn other players into different avatars. _____
- 3 Châu does not get along with all types of people very well. _____
- 4 Châu thinks that when playing games, we are in a special world. _____
- 5 The new game is very challenging. _____
- 6 Lan wants to try out the new game. _____

2 Match the sentence halves to form a complete sentence. Which of these phrasal verbs are mentioned in Exercise 1?

- | | |
|---|------------------------------|
| 1 I need to come up with | a finishing it. |
| 2 The children get along with | b all this noise. |
| 3 I haven't yet got around to | c his high expectations. |
| 4 We look forward to | d a new idea for my project. |
| 5 I'm not sure I can live up to | e younger people. |
| 6 She always looks up to | f playing a new video game. |
| 7 The old man looks down on | g the new student very well. |
| 8 I like it quiet, so it's hard to put up with | h her father. |

3 Read the sentences and choose the best phrase to fill in the gap.

- 1 It's impressive that you can _____ so many different types of people.
a get along with b look forward to c look up to
- 2 I haven't yet been able to _____ write any new computer code.
a get around to b come up with c live up to
- 3 She _____ people who take too much risk.
a puts up with b looks down on c looks up to
- 4 She used her imagination to _____ an idea for a new video game.
a look down on b come up with c look forward to
- 5 We _____ seeing the full potential of AI.
a live up to b get around to c look forward to
- 6 I can't _____ his actions anymore.
a put up with b come up with c get along with 4 Read the two dialogues and reorder the lines so they make sense. The first and last lines of each dialogue are given. Write the numbers in the correct order below.

Dialogue A

- 1 Linh: Did you come up with any new ideas for our game?
- David: Yeah, I look forward to it. Can you design the scenes? I'm terrible at that.
- Linh: Well, I'll try.
- David: No. I've been too busy to get around to it.
- David: I'm sure you'll do a great job. You always do.
- Linh: Maybe you can start by creating the avatars.
- 7 Linh: I hope I live up to your expectations.

Dialogue B

- 1 Phong: What's wrong?
- Phong: I see. How do you put up with it?
- Dung: I'm not getting along with my younger brother.
- Dung: It's hard. I know he looks up to me, but he needs to be more responsible.
- Dung: He always borrows my video games and doesn't return them.
- Phong: Why, what's wrong?
- 7 Phong: It's good you don't look down on him.

5 Role-play: Talk about the use of AI in gaming like in Exercise 1.

WRITING

I can write a report about using technology

- 1 The chart shows the results of a survey conducted in May 2023 with 600 students and 600 teachers in the US, Canada, and Australia. Answer the questions.

- What does this chart show?
 - What teachers and students think is the best way to use AI for learning
 - How teachers and students use AI
 - What is the unit of measurement?
 - Percentage of people
 - Number of people
 - In which two categories are the numbers of students dominate the number of teachers?
 - To search for facts and to write texts
 - To improve writing and to find background information
 - Which category is most popular among teachers?
 - To improve writing
 - To find background information
 - In which categories are the numbers of teachers and students nearly equal?
 - To search for facts
 - To find background information
- 2 Read the WRITING FOCUS and match the paragraphs (1–4) with its type. Write 1–4 in the blanks.
- _____ Overview _____ Body paragraph 1 _____ Body paragraph 2 _____ Introduction

[1] The bar chart illustrates the most popular ways of using AI for learning based on a May 2023 survey of 600 students and 600 teachers living in Australia, Canada, and the USA.

[2] Overall, the number of students who agreed that AI is best used to search for facts and to write texts exceeds the figure for teachers, whereas more teachers used AI to improve writing than their counterparts.

[3] A similar number of students (169 students) used AI to search for facts and write texts while a smaller number of teachers did the same, at 138 and 126 respectively. However, the greatest difference is found in the option of using AI to improve writing. More teachers (183) believed this to be important than students (112) did.

[4] Turning to the last category, most noticeably, a relatively equal number of teachers and students found AI most useful to find background information. This option was chosen by 150 students and 153 teachers.

WRITING FOCUS

Writing the introduction

The chart shows / explains / gives information about ... (what) (where) (when).

The bar chart gives information about the use of different means of communication by British customers in 2005.

Writing an overview for a static chart

The overview reports the main features of the chart. Do not include data in the overview.

The highest / most popular (category) + whereas / while + the lowest / least popular (category)

Overall, mobile phones were the most popular means of communication, while landline phones were least used by customers.

Overall, the number of healthcare jobs exceeded the number of education-related jobs.

Writing the body paragraph

- 1 Write two paragraphs about the two groups of data on the chart. Include specific data and make comparison.

20,000 jobs were lost to the spread of AI-powered robots in factories in 2020, which was bigger than the figure in the following year.

- 2 Use the overview paragraph to guide the structure of the body paragraphs. Use transitional phrases.

Considering the number of applications, ...

Turning to the second category, ...

- 3 Which of the following sentences is an overview? Put a tick (✓).

- 1 AI-powered learning platforms can improve student performance by up to 30% compared to traditional teaching methods. ☐
- 2 Over 90% of educators believe that AI can help improve student engagement and motivation. ☐
- 3 70% of respondents believe that AI can help reduce their workload and free up time for more meaningful interactions with students. ☐
- 4 The data shows that AI is being used in a wide range of applications, from personalized learning platforms to automated grading and assessment tools. Personalized learning platforms are the most popular among Australian students. ☐
- 5 Overall, AI has relatively similar impacts on the way that students learn and teachers teach. The percentage of students who stated that AI is useful is similar to the proportion of teachers. ☐

- 4 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS and find examples from the writing in Exercise 2.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Here are some useful expressions of comparison and contrast in a static chart:

SPEAKING

I can make predictions while talking about the risks of artificial intelligence.

1 Look at the pictures. What type of risks do you think artificial intelligence may bring in the future?

2 7.08 Listen to a conversation between two experts talking about the potential risks of AI. Which risks in Exercise 1 are mentioned?

Cathy = C Dr. Lam: = Dr.

C: I'm getting more concerned about the negative effects that AI () might bring.

Dr.: Yes, I'm feeling the same way. The first big impact () will be a loss of jobs. Millions of jobs worldwide will be lost as AI and robots replace many jobs.

C: () Undoubtedly, that () will cause a global financial crisis.

Dr.: Speaking of financial crisis, some experts predict that as we depend more on AI algorithms for investments, we are at greater risk of AI causing serious problems in the financial markets.

C: Oh, I've never thought about that. I guess that's because AI may not consider all the negative effects of its actions.

Dr.: That's right. It can't use its imagination to consider unreal situations like humans can.

C: Not only that, AI can cause harm to other humans or even countries. It may () inevitably lead to a war with AI as our soldiers.

Dr.: That's scary. () It's quite likely that AI might write essays or make presentations for students. This is totally unethical. () In the years to come, I believe we could use AI as tools to help us to find, organize and present information, but we shouldn't let AI do all the work for us.

SPEAKING FOCUS

Making predictions:

We can use these techniques to make predictions.

1 Using future tenses

There will be big changes in the future.

2 Using modal verbs

There might be fewer jobs.

3 Using adverbials

Obviously, AI will impact how we work in the future.

4 Using other expressions

I'm not sure what might happen, but one possibility is ...

It's hard to predict the future, but I suppose it / we might ...

It's quite likely that ...

In the long run, I think ...

In years to come, I believe ...

4 Complete the sentences with your predictions. Share your predictions with a partner.

1 Perhaps the future will be more ...

2 Next year, I will definitely ...

3 Certainly, in the future we will have less ...

4 In a few years, it might be ...

5 I think that in 10 years from now we will definitely be able ...

5 What might be potential risks of AI-powered facial recognition? Discuss your predictions with your friends and make a poster to show these risks. Present it to the class.

Potential risks

- violation of rights and personal freedom
- potential data theft
- over-reliance on inaccurate systems

It's hard to predict the future, but I suppose facial recognition might cause potential data theft.

Some criminals might steal personal data through this application.

VOCABULARY

Work • expressions to do with work
• phrasal verbs

I can talk about work and employment.

1 Complete the sentences with the correct form of work (noun or verb) or job (noun).

- 1 Brenda has a part-time / manual / well-paid job.
- 2 Tom _____ from home / long hours / with his hands.
- 3 Amy has done a lot of hard / voluntary / office _____ over the years.
- 4 Luca _____ outdoors / in advertising / abroad.
- 5 Hal applied for / got fired from / resigned from a _____ in sales.

2 Read the summary and answer the questions.

- 1 What is a 'frog' in the summary? What does 'eat that frog' mean?
- 2 How can making lists help you at work? What two lists does the author suggest?
- 3 Why should you imitate what other successful people do?

EAT THAT FROG!

You're almost at the end of school and close to going on to further education or entering the job market. In his book, Eat that Frog!, time management expert Brian Tracy outlines some simple tips to help you reach your full potential and stop you burning out.

1 EAT THAT FROG

Imagine the scenario – you’ve taken up a new job or started a new course, but you’re overworked. You’ve got so many things to do. Your frog is your biggest, most difficult and important task, the one you’re most likely to put off until later. Make sure it’s the first job you do, and keep at it until it’s done.

2 WRITE DOWN YOUR GOALS

Set out your objectives. Make a list of ten goals you’d like to achieve in the next twelve months. If you could only achieve one goal, which one would have the most positive effect on your life? Focus on that objective first and get down to work straight away.

3 WRITE A TO-DO LIST

Get organised. Before you get on with your work, if you take ten minutes to map out exactly how you will spend your time, you can increase your output by 25 percent. Planning can save you time especially when you’re working to a deadline.

4 DEVELOP THE RIGHT HABITS

Improve your career prospects by observing what successful people do. Imitate their behaviour: be punctual, think for yourself, speak your mind. Do these things day in, day out until they become second nature. Then you’ll be on your way to becoming a successful person, too.

3 8.01 Complete the list below with the verbs in red in the text. Then listen, check and repeat.

- 1 achieve a goal
- 2 _____ sth day in, day out
- 3 _____ the job market
- 4 _____ your career prospects
- 5 _____ your output
- 6 _____ your full potential
- 7 _____ your mind
- 8 _____ for yourself
- 9 _____ to a deadline

4 8.02 Complete the list below with the underlined phrasal verbs in the text. Then listen, check and repeat.

- 1 burn out = become ill because of hard work
- 2 _____ = start doing sth
- 3 _____ = continue doing sth
- 4 _____ = plan sth in detail
- 5 _____ = not do sth till later
- 6 _____ = arrange or describe sth

5 Discuss the questions.

- 1 How good are you at time management and getting things done?
- 2 Which tips describe things you do or would consider doing?
- 3 Do you think it is always important to ‘eat that frog’? Why / Why not?

- 1 8.03 Listen to some people being interviewed for the jobs shown in photos A–C. Would you employ them? Why? / Why not?

- 2 8.04 Read the reports of the interviews in Exercise 1. Rewrite the underlined parts in Direct Speech. Then listen again and check.

- 1 We asked the candidate to tell us about his weaknesses. He told us that he wasn't a morning person. In fact, he said he had struggled to get up that morning. He said he would like to start work after lunch.

A: Tell us _____

B: I _____

- 2 In the interview, we said it was a pity that they hadn't had any experience of restaurant work. They told us not to worry and that they were very good at eating. That was why they thought they should get the job.

A: It's a _____

B: Don't _____

C: That's _____

- 3 In the current interview, we've just asked the candidate whether she likes the job she has now. She says she doesn't because she has to answer the phone a lot, and she hates that.

A: Do _____

B: No, _____

- 3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Then look at the way the Direct Speech is reported in Exercise 2 and find examples for each rule.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Reported Speech

When you report someone's words, remember these rules:

- You usually move the verbs 'one tense back' when your reporting verb is in a past tense (She said ...).
- You don't change the verb form if your reporting verb is in a present tense (She says ... or He has told me ...).

A part-time postal worker

A waiter

A receptionist

- You don't change verbs in the Past Perfect or modal verbs such as would, should, could, might, must.
- You change pronouns, possessive adjectives and words for time and place if necessary.
- You change the word order in questions and don't use do, does or did.
- You use the to + infinitive to report orders, suggestions, requests and promises.

- 4 Harry is preparing for a job interview. Report his parents' comments. Do not change the tense if it isn't necessary.

- 1 'You didn't prepare well enough for your last interview.'

→ They said (that) he hadn't prepared well enough for his previous interview.

- 2 'You'll never get a job if you don't have your hair cut.'

→ They said _____

- 3 'You forgot to clean your shoes last time and they always look at shoes.'

→ They said _____

- 4 'You should buy a new suit.'

→ They said _____

- 5 'You mustn't drink too much coffee beforehand because you'll be nervous.'

→ They said _____

- 6 'Don't worry if you don't get it. Something better might come up.'

→ They've told him _____

- 5 Complete the reported statements to make them true for you. Compare with a partner.

- 1 The last time my friends gave me good advice, they told me _____.

- 2 My brother / sister / friend annoys me when he / she _____.

- 3 I think I'm pretty good / bad at English. My teacher tells me _____.

- 4 I heard something interesting recently. Somebody told me _____.

5 Complete the comments with the words and phrases in Exercise 4 in the correct form.Linh, 16

Thanks for this post. I can see now that my problem is that I'm a jack of all trades and master of none! At school I had a ¹c_____ g_____, but it didn't help me at all. I still don't know what to do at college.

Huy, 18

I agree. The ²c_____ don't really help. It would be more helpful to have counselling once we have some experience and can visualise our future career path more clearly.

Trang, 16

I was really interested in what you're saying about the modern ³w_____ being more flexible. I think job sharing is a great idea – you just have to make sure that communication is really good between both people doing the job.

Nam, 17

Maybe, but I think it's better to work for a big organisation if you want to thrive in your career. I don't think you can ever feel like an important part of the ⁴w_____ if you're a self-employed freelancer.

6 Discuss whether you have similar or different opinions to the people in Exercise 5.

What if you don't have ONE dream job?

Do you remember being asked what you wanted to be when you grew up? No doubt, the more imaginative your answer, the more approval you would get. But once we reach adolescence, there's far less tolerance for answers like, 'I'm going to be a marine biologist, circus clown and journalist!' Now the question translates as: You are allowed one identity in this life, so which is it?

At school, there's pressure to focus on your strengths, and choose a subject to major in at university, which leads to one specific degree, intended for one type of job. The message that you need to specialise is reinforced in many contexts. Career guidance books and counsellors give you tests to help you find your niche and identify your dream job.

But what happens if you're wired differently? Let's say you're curious about several subjects, and there are many things you'd like to study. If you're unable or unwilling to settle on a single career path, you might worry that you don't have one true calling like everybody else and that, therefore, your life lacks purpose. As the saying goes, you're a 'jack of all trades, master of none'.

In reality, few people are just 'one thing'. A rare few have a vocation and stick to it, but for most young people who will make up the workforce of the future, 'one thing' is not relevant anymore. For our parents' and grandparents' generation, it was normal to work in the same profession and often the same company for thirty or more years. Those days are long gone.

The ambitious young people of today are more interested in moving around and doing different things. In the modern workplace, people are working flexibly and the individual is in control of their professional life and in a position to make decisions about how, when and where they work. Rather than finding something and doing it forever, the new challenge is to find a way of working that works for you.

Reporting verbs

I can use a range of reporting verbs to talk about career choice.

- 1 In pairs, answer this question: Who often gives you advice on choosing your future career?
- 2 Read the text. What criteria did Mr. Hoàng and Dũng mention in choosing a job?

Mr. Hoàng sat down with his son, Dũng, to discuss his future career choices. He suggested taking some time to consider his passions and interests, and explore careers that align with those. Mr. Hoàng explained that if Dũng could choose a job that matches his interest, he would be happier in the long run. Dũng expressed concern about job security and financial stability, and Mr. Hoàng insisted on understanding what they really meant. The father also added that career paths may change over time, and it's essential to remain open to new opportunities. Finally, the father claimed that no matter what career path his son chose, he would support him and be proud of him as long as he pursued it with his heart.

- 3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Then find five more reporting verbs in the text in Exercise 2. Which verb patterns do they illustrate?

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Reporting verbs

Verbs without an object

- verb + that: add, admit, agree, claim, deny, explain, insist, promise, propose, recommend, suggest
She promised that she would come home.
- verb + to + infinitive: agree, claim, offer, promise, refuse
He offered to help.
- verb + -ing: admit, deny, propose, recommend, suggest
They suggested talking to the lawyer.
- verb + preposition + -ing: apologise for, insist on, object to
I insisted on paying for everything.

Verbs with an object

- verb + object + that: assure, convince, inform, promise, remind, warn
She assured me that she was OK.

- verb + object + to + infinitive: advise, beg, convince, encourage, invite, order, persuade, remind, urge, warn (not)
He urged them to leave.
- verb + object + preposition + -ing: accuse sb of, blame sb for, congratulate sb on, thank sb for He congratulated me on passing the exam.

- 4 Some reporting verbs can have two or more patterns. Report each of these sentences in two different ways.

- 1 "You should talk to a career counselor about your career goals", Jack told his friends Jack suggested _____.
- 2 "I didn't receive any support in choosing my career", Minh told his mum.
Minh denied _____.
- 3 "All right. I'll follow your steps!", said Hoa to her father.
Hoa agreed _____.
- 4 "Please choose what you like to do, not what you are told to do", Bảo told his friend.
Bảo advised _____.

- 5 In pairs, do the following actions.

- 1 Discuss the criteria you use to choose your future job and complete the mind-map.
- 2 Report to another pair what you have discussed. Use reporting verbs.

Phrasal verbs – advanced points

Three-part phrasal verbs

- Most three-part phrasal verbs are made up of really common verbs like come, get, put, etc. plus a variety of adverbial and prepositional particles.
¹ come up against (meet or confront), ² _____ (feel superior to), ³ _____ (compensate for)
- Three-part phrasal verbs are nearly always inseparable.
He came up against bullying. NOT He came up bullying against.

Word building with phrasal verbs

• Nouns

Verb + particle: clear sth out → a clear-out, let sb down → a ⁴ _____, warm sth up → a warm-up.

You stress the 'verb' part not the particle.

Particle + verb: bring sb up → an ⁵ _____, pour down → a downpour, set out → outset.
You usually stress the 'particle' part not the verb.

• Adjectives

Particle + verb -ing put sb off → be off-putting

Verb (Past Participle) + particle run sth down → be ⁶ _____

4 Complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first. Use the noun or adjective form of the underlined phrasal verb.

- I was brought up in a similar way to my parents.
I had _____
- Yesterday it poured down on my way home from school.
Yesterday there was _____
- I always warm up before I do any sport.
I like to do _____
- I need to clear out all the junk in my bedroom.
I need to have _____
- Background music puts me off when I am trying to study.
I find background music _____
- If I dropped out of college, my parents would never forgive me.
If I became _____

5 Use the phrasal verbs to talk about the job you want to do in the future.

I want to be a doctor because I look up to my grandfather who is a doctor in our family.

An opinion essay

I can write an opinion essay exploring different aspects of viewpoints.

- 1 Look at the results of an international student survey about reasons for going to university. Then answer the questions and discuss with a partner.
 - 1 Which three reasons are most important to you?
 - 2 What other reasons to go to university can you think of?
 - 3 Should students choose a degree based on what they are interested in or what is most likely to lead to getting a job? Explain your answer.
- 2 Read the task and the essay below. Do you agree with the author's opinion?

Some university degrees are more likely to lead to employment after graduation than others. In your opinion, should young people choose a university subject based on what will help them get a good job rather than what interests them? Write an opinion essay on this topic analysing the importance of motivation to study and career success.

Why do you want to go to university?

I want to go to university because:

I want to continue my education and development	58.4%
I am really keen on the subject I want to study	57.9%
This is necessary for my future career	53.7%
I need stimulation and intellectual challenge	52.7%
I want to learn some necessary life skills	50.1%
This will help me find a job (or a better job)	36.1%
I want to experience student life and just have fun	22.8%
My family expects me to continue my education	16.3%

- 3 Read the WRITING FOCUS. In the model essay, find:
 - 1 a sentence which states the writer's main opinion.
 - 2 a sentence that says which two aspects will be discussed.
 - 3 a sentence which acknowledges an opposing opinion and states why the writer disagrees with it.
 - 4 a sentence which expands the discussion by giving examples.
 - 5 a sentence which restates the writer's main opinion.
 - 6 a final comment.

Many school-leavers choose a degree based on what is likely to lead to a good job rather than what truly interests them. Personally, I worry this could lead to a negative experience at university and that it may be better to opt for a subject you find stimulating. To explain the reasons for my view, I will examine the issue in terms of motivation and career success.

When it comes to motivation, there is no doubt that four years is a long time to dedicate to a single subject. The high level of commitment required means that enthusiasm for your chosen subject is important. The outcome of struggling through a course you don't enjoy could be low final grades and a negative student experience.

It is also important to consider this issue with regard to success. It is often the case that those who rise to the very top of their field get there because they are passionate about what they do. Of course, passion does not guarantee career success, but it is undeniably an important factor.

It is true that some subjects appear to offer limited career prospects, however, I am of the opinion that studying for any degree teaches valuable transferable skills. These include the ability to interpret information or communicate complex ideas, for example, and are undoubtedly appreciated by employers.

All in all, I think it is better to choose a university subject that interests you. I would prefer to learn useful skills and work towards high grades in a subject I have enjoyed studying rather than risking low grades in a subject that I do not find motivating.

I can discuss problems and solutions, and express annoyance.

1 Describe what happened last time you experienced one of these problems.

- 1 Something was lost or stolen (bag, keys, bike, etc.)
- 2 Something was broken (computer, car, phone, etc.)
- 3 Something was forgotten (test, alarm, appointment, etc.)

2 8.11 Listen to two friends, Hannah and Daniel, discussing a problem and answer the questions.

- 1 What was the problem and how did Hannah and Daniel try to solve it?
- 2 What would be a better solution in your opinion?
- 3 What do you think might happen next?

3 8.12 Choose the correct option to complete the SPEAKING FOCUS. Then listen again and check.

5 Follow the instructions below to prepare a dialogue. Use the SPEAKING FOCUS to help you.

As part of a project, you are giving a joint presentation about summer job opportunities in your local area.

Together, you prepared a presentation on a laptop.

Student A: You were responsible for bringing a pen drive with all the notes and visuals. The presentation is in twenty minutes, and you have just realised that you left the pen drive at home.

Student B: You worked hard on the presentation and are very annoyed that your partner forgot to bring the pen drive.

There isn't enough time to go home. Together, you need to come up with a solution.

- 2 Read about the revision experiences of two students.
Answer the questions.

- 1 What is Minh so stressed about?
- 2 How does Minh feel about his exams?
- 3 What technique does Minh find useful in preparing for exams?
- 4 Why high school exams are more challenging compared with primary school ones?
- 5 What does Tùng do in the third stage in his revision process?

9.01

Exams, exams

If you are revising for upcoming exams, you may well be surrounded by tons of paper and sticky notes. What techniques do you find work for you?

Minh

I sit at my desk, faced with piles of revision files and frustrated by my unplanned timetable. A few moments ago, I was swimming in English grammar exercises. Later today, I will revise geography, maths and chemistry. It's not necessarily the content that I find difficult but the range of knowledge that I have to memorise that makes me stressed. At times, it seems we are being tested on nothing but facts. My friends and I have found Google Docs useful for exchanging notes.

3 Read the text again. Whose experience do you most relate to? Why?

4 Read the phrases and examples. Then match them with their correct meanings.

Phrases

- 1 Get a grip
Don't behave like a child. You need to get a grip on yourself.
- 2 Keep things in perspective
If you failed an exam, that wouldn't be a big deal. You must keep things in perspective.
- 3 Sail through exam
Linh sailed through her final exams and got 10 in all of them.
- 4 Go blank
My mind went blank when I read the exam question.
- 5 A bundle of nerves
Mary is a bundle of nerves before exams. She's very worried.
- 6 Cram for exam
We are cramming for our history exam.

Meanings

- a think about a situation or problem in a wise and reasonable way
- b study for a test shortly before it is scheduled to take place
- c someone who is extremely nervous and worried
- d be unable to recall or think of something
- e make an effort to control your emotions and behave more calmly
- f succeed very easily in something, especially a test

Tùng

Revising for the final graduation exam starts early. There's a lot of content to learn. I do my revision in four stages. Firstly, I take notes from the textbook on huge A3 sheets by visualising them, then I condense them on to mini-flashcards, then I type them all up. In stage four, which will commence a week before the exams, I work on exam papers of previous years.

5  9.02 Listen to Amy and Sally and find out how each of them copes with exams. Take notes:

Amy: _____

Sally: _____

6 Work in groups. How do you cope with exams? What techniques do you often use? Then share with the class.

I can use a variety of modal verbs to speculate about the past, the present and the future.

1 Look at the photo. What are these people doing?

2 9.03 Listen and complete each structure in blue with one word.

Extract 1

B: The original group members ¹*may have been doing* it for years while the younger ones ²_____ have been taught more recently. Some of these really young ones ³_____ just have joined the group. See the guy in the white T-shirt – he ⁴_____ have been doing it for a couple of years, I'd say.

Extract 2

A: Yes, I saw them recording one trick on their smartphones the other day. Why do they do that? I thought it ⁵_____ be so they could learn from the more experienced members of the group ...

B: Well, yes, they ⁶_____ well be doing it so they can watch the clips afterwards and talk about the techniques. But the guy in the white T-shirt ⁷_____ watch the film later too. If he does, it ⁸_____ certainly be to help him improve his technique.

A: And how do you think he learnt that move to start with? I mean, he ⁹_____ have learnt it by himself ...

B: Who knows? He ¹⁰_____ have been part of another group and moved on to form his own tricking gang or he ¹¹_____ have learnt the first tricks online.

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and find examples in Exercise 2 where the speaker is:

- guessing about an action that's in progress.
- certain about a reason for doing sth in the present.
- certain about sth that started in the past and continues in the present.
- guessing about sth that happened in the past.
- certain that sth didn't happen in the past.
- guessing about sth in the future.
- certain about sth in the future.
- guessing about sth that happened in the past using the Passive.
- guessing about an action continuing in the present.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Speculating

- You can use the modal verbs must / may / might / could / can't to speculate about the present and past:
 - modal verb + infinitive (present states)
They may not be aware of the risks.
 - modal verb + be + -ing form (events now in progress)
They may be filming their tricks.
 - modal verb + have + Past Participle (finished events in the past)
Others could have joined their community.
 - modal verb + have been + Past Participle (finished events in the Passive Voice in the past)
The tyres could have been brought by someone's father.
 - modal verb + have been + -ing form (events that started in the past and continue in the present)
They may have been doing it for years.
- You can use the modal verbs may / might / could + infinitive or will / won't + adverb to speculate about the future:
 - He could win the competition next year.
 - He may not join the club.
 - She will probably start next week.
 - He definitely won't come.

4 Choose the correct option.

If you're in Brazil, you might ¹*want* / have wanted to join a samba school. But when you get there, you could ²*be* / have been surprised by what you see. I certainly was! In fact, the surprise must ³*show* / have shown very obviously on my face! If you have ever attended a dancing school in the UK, you will almost certainly ⁴*have been coached* / have been coaching by a qualified instructor, but here there was just a room full of people dancing, and I felt like they all must ⁵*be dancing* / have been dancing samba their whole lives. But then I noticed other people, like me, watching carefully, copying a few steps and moves and I realised they can't ⁶*be learning* / have been learning very long. They must ⁷*notice* / have noticed me, because they invited me to join them. Now, I'm one of the people helping newcomers who might ⁸*look* / be looking for a way in.

PRONUNCIATION FOCUS

UNSTRESSED WORDS IN A SENTENCE

Unstressed words in a sentence include function words (determiners, prepositions, and conjunctions) and question words (who, what, when, where, why, and how).

5 9.06 Listen and underline the unstressed words in the following sentences. Practise saying these sentences in pairs.

- 1 Have you ever consulted an online video for help with fixing something?
- 2 They've got detailed advice and videos there.
- 3 It seems odd to me.
- 4 It's good to know help is just a few clicks away.

I can understand the connection between ideas in paragraphs of an article.

- 1 Look at the picture. In pairs, ask and answer: What does the picture tell you?

- 2 In groups, brainstorm ideas for this question: What skills are necessary for students in Việt Nam to become lifelong learners?

- 3 Find the words.

1 Find all the adjectives that are synonymous to 'important' in the text. Write the words here:

2 Find a word that means 'adapt' in paragraph 3.

3 Find a word that means 'viewpoints' in paragraph 4.

4 Find a word that means 'continually' in paragraph 5.

- 4 Read the text and choose the correct option.

In today's fast-paced world, the ability to learn and adapt is becoming increasingly essential. This is why lifelong learning skills are essential for students to develop. These skills go beyond memorising facts and figures.

Two first important lifelong learning skills are the ability to summarise information and reflect on learning. These involve identifying the key points of a text or lecture and reducing them into a shorter form and then reflect on the past learning experiences and consider how new knowledge can be applied in the future. Learning from others and personalising learning are also vital skills. Students need to seek out mentors, peers and experts in their fields to learn from their experiences. At the same time, learning from others does not mean copying from them.

- 3 Read the text and choose the correct option.

Students can tailor others' approach to learning to their own needs and preferences. For example, some peers learn best through visual aids, but you may prefer hands-on activities.

Reading extensively is a great way to learn about new ideas and perspectives. While reading a wide range of genres and topics, students cultivate their curiosity with the texts and identify connections between ideas. They can develop a deeper understanding of the materials. Familiarising oneself with new technologies is also crucial for lifelong learning. With advances in technology, new learning tools are constantly being developed, and students need to be able to adapt to these changes in education. Online learning platforms, online courses, digital textbooks, and educational apps can provide students with new ways to learn.

In conclusion, the above-mentioned lifelong learning skills are indispensable for students to develop if they want to succeed in today's world.

- 1 How many lifelong learning skills are mentioned in the text?

A Four
B Five
C Six

- 2 How is the text organized?

A By comparing and contrasting ideas
B By listing ideas
C By cause and effect

- 3 In what way can students learn to reflect?

A By thinking about their previous experiences
B By thinking about future experiences
C Both A and B

- 4 What does it mean by 'reading extensively'?

A Reading a lot of books in a short time
B Reading the titles of the books
C Reading a range of genres and topics

- 5 Why do students need to use new technologies to learn?

A Because they offer them new ways to learn
B Because they are inexpensive to learn
C Because they are constantly changing

- 5 Work in groups. How often do you practise these lifelong learning skills? How effective do you think your skills are? Why?

I think I sometimes reflect on my learning experiences. I know what learning strategies work best for me. However, I often do not have time to read extensively ...

1 In pairs, imagine you will study abroad in Australia for your university studies. Think of at least three new study skills you will apply.

2 9.07 Read and listen to the dialogue between Thu and Jenny about different study skills in Australia. What advice does Jenny give to Thu?

Jenny: Thu, I heard that you're going to study in Australia. That's exciting! Are you nervous?

Thu: Yes, I am. Never have I been away from home for so long. But I'm also excited to learn new things.

Jenny: That's great. Do you have any ideas about how you will study in a new country like Australia?

Thu: I'm planning to take notes in lectures as much as I can. When I cram for exams, I will memorise key points.

Jenny: That's a good start, but memorising isn't the best way to learn in Australia. You should read extensively. Also, familiarise yourself with the learning culture there. Don't be afraid to ask your new friends and teachers, and use their electronic library.

Thu: I see what you mean. I'll make sure to tailor my approach to each situation.

Jenny: Exactly. Remember, not only will you gain more knowledge in your studies, but you'll also learn about a new place and its people. Rarely will you have an opportunity like this, so make the most of it. Only if you're open to new experiences will you truly benefit from your time abroad.

Thu: Thanks so much, Jenny. Nowhere can I have good friends like you.

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Complete the examples with words from the dialogue. Then circle the inversion in the examples.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Inversion

- Negative expressions (Never / Rarely / Seldom / Little + auxiliary verb + S).

¹ _____ have I been away for so long.

² _____ will you have an opportunity like this, so make the most of it.

- Expressions with Only (Only if / if only / Only when / Only now, etc. + S1 + V1, + auxiliary verb + S2)

³ _____ you're open to new experiences will you truly benefit ...

- Expressions with Not (Not only / Not until / Not once, etc. + auxiliary verb + S) ⁴ _____ will you gain more knowledge in your studies, but you'll also learn about ...

- Adverb phrases (At no time / Under no circumstances / No way / Nowhere, etc. + auxiliary verb + S)

⁵ _____ can I have good friends like you.

4 Rewrite the sentences using the structures from the GRAMMAR FOCUS and the words in capitals.

1 It's rare for me to go blank during an exam. (RARELY)

2 You will sail through your exams if you keep things in perspective. (ONLY IF)

_____.

3 My brother Khanh always gets nervous before a big test. (ONLY WHEN)

_____.

4 Linh needs to calm down and get a grip on the situation. (NOT ONLY)

_____.

5 It's important for you to stay focused if you want to pass exams. (SELDOM)

_____.

5 Work in groups. Each group has to make a sentence to answer the question. Then compete with other groups. Each correct sentence gets a point. The group with most points will win the game.

1 What are the benefits of studying abroad? (Not only)

2 How can you prepare for studying abroad? (Only if)

3 What challenges might you face while studying abroad? (Seldom)

4 What are some tips for making the most of your study abroad experience? (Only when)

5 How can studying abroad help you in your future career? (Rarely)

Articles

I can use abstract nouns with and without a / an.

1 When you need advice or help, who do you ask?
Do you ever look on online forums? Why? / Why not?

2 Read the two forum exchanges and decide on the logical order in each of them.

- (A) a ☐ Thanks – you were a great help – it all makes sense now.
- b ☐ I need help with my maths. I don't have a hope of getting it done on my own. Anybody out there have a moment to spare?
- c ☐ Yeah, call me. I'm doing it too.

- (B) a ☐ Oh no! Sleep is so important. When I'm stressed out, I sometimes use breathing exercises to help me relax and I usually get a good night's sleep after that.
- b ☐ Thanks. I'll try that. My granddad, who has a good understanding of human behaviour, always says 'A good laugh and a good sleep are the two best cures.' 😊
- c ☐ Help! All of a sudden, I'm very stressed about my exams and I can't sleep.

3 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS and complete the example sentences with the words and phrases in blue in Exercise 2.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Abstract nouns with and without a / an

Some abstract nouns (such as hope, knowledge, love, pleasure) can refer to either a general concept or a specific situation or example.

When talking about a general concept, a / an is not used before the noun. When referring to a specific situation / example, a / an can precede the noun. In this case, the noun is generally modified by an adjective or phrase.

General concept

I need ¹help.

²_____ is so important.

The importance of ³_____ and ⁴_____.

Specific situation/example

You were ⁵_____.

A good laugh and ⁶_____ are the best cures.

That was ⁷_____ and ⁸_____.

Note: Some abstract nouns have a plural form (love / loves, hope / hopes, pleasure / pleasures) while others do not (knowledge).

Eating at that café is always a pleasure.

Eating is one of life's great pleasures.

He has a good knowledge of many things.

NOT He has many ~~knowledges~~.

4 Read the message exchange and complete the gaps with the correct form of the words in the box and a, an or $\emptyset$ (no article).

charity education experience help (x2) hope love pleasure

Hi Jen. Thanks again. You really were such ¹a help last night. I wouldn't have had ²_____ of doing it without you.

No problem. It was ³_____. You know science is one of my great ⁴_____. 😊 And I need to ask you a favour actually. I need to interview someone with ⁵_____ doing volunteer work.

Well, I haven't done any in a while. The last time was about a year ago when I worked for ⁶_____ that works with animals. It was ⁷_____ though – it left me with a first-class knowledge of cats. ;)

I'm sure you learnt a lot. 😊 Are you in a hurry? Could I ask you some questions now?

Yes, sure, glad to be of ⁸_____. Call me now.

5 Complete the sentences with the correct form of the phrases underlined in Exercises 2 and 4.

- I really need to _____ – otherwise I can't do anything the next day!
- When he _____, he likes to read computer advice in forums.
- I _____ – I always know how my friends will react.
- I haven't studied French _____ so I _____ how to do the assignment.
- I wanted to help her with her exam preparation but I was _____ to get home.
- He has _____ German. He is practically fluent.
- He _____ finishing his exam before the time was up.
- _____, she felt totally relaxed and knew she would be fine.

A newspaper article

I can write a newspaper article using different ways to make it lively.

1 Discuss the questions in pairs.

- 1 Are you thinking of going to university when you finish school? Why? / Why not?
- 2 What might be the reasons to go to university?
Think of at least two.
- 3 What might be the reasons not to go to university?
Think of at least two.
- 4 What alternatives to university are there?

Going to university – is it still worth it?

With the increasing cost of higher education, many young people are wondering if going to university is worth it. It's vital to balance the costs with the potential benefits. Let's take a look at the arguments.

What are the benefits? First of all, a university education improves your job prospects and broadens your future options. Increasingly, you're at a disadvantage without a degree. And a degree opens up job opportunities abroad as well! But is it only the study element of university that can make a difference to your life? No! Minh, from a university in Hồ Chí Minh City, found the life experience as valuable as the education, if not more so. 'University is massively character building', she says.

Still, not everyone is so enthusiastic about higher education. Many employers appear to value work experience over a degree. As one employer, Bình, from JJS company, puts it, 'I now make a point of first interviewing people who have spent their time travelling or working instead of doing a degree because this shows they're prepared to stand out from the crowd'.

2 Read a newspaper article about the benefits and drawbacks of going to university. Read two conclusions of the article. Do they match with the article? Why (not)? Re-write them if they do not match.

- 1 Does the writer mention the same reasons as you did in Exercise 1?
- 2 What are the writer's answers to the question in the title in Conclusion A and in Conclusion B?
- 3 Which conclusion do you agree with? Why?

Conclusion A

So do the benefits outweigh the costs? On balance, I would say that university is definitely worth it – for the economic reasons as well as the less tangible outcomes. Go for it!

Conclusion B

So do the costs outweigh the benefits? On balance, comparing the expenses one has to meet with the odds of getting a good graduate job, I would advise you to consider alternative routes to the future.

3 Read the WRITING FOCUS. For each point, find more examples in the article on page 107.

WRITING FOCUS

'University is not for everyone,' points out Sam Hill, 'and many are better off with apprenticeships.'

• Exclamations

University isn't the only option. Many entrepreneurs didn't even finish secondary school!

4 Read a newspaper article about student loans. Re-write the essay, using:

- two direct questions
- one direct address to readers
- at least one quotation
- an exclamation

Student loans have become a popular financing option for higher education in Việt Nam. Each student from a low-income family is eligible to apply for an education loan of about 40 million VND each academic year. Opinions are divided on whether they are a good or bad thing. Let's look at the arguments for and against student loans.

On one hand, student loans provide access to education for those who cannot afford it. Thanh Trúc, a student from a low-income family, says, "Without the student loan, I would not have been able to go to university, and my future prospects would have been limited." Student loans also provide students with an incentive to succeed in their studies. Duy, a second-year student, says, "The pressure of having to pay back the loan motivates me to work hard and achieve good grades."

On the other hand, student loans may leave graduates with significant financial considerations. Trinh, a recent graduate, says, "If I owe a student loan, I have to prioritize paying it back after I graduate." Limited job opportunities for graduates also make it difficult to pay back the loans.

In conclusion, despite possible risks, student loans may be a good option for students from low-income backgrounds. I believe the government, banks and universities need to popularize this option for students.

5 Write an article (180–200 words) on the following topic.

Is spending a year studying abroad a valuable thing for university students to do?

Write an article for a student website giving arguments for and against and stating your view.

Giving supporting examples

I can develop an argument with supporting examples.

1 Read US TODAY and discuss the questions.

- Why is homeschooling in the USA on the increase?
- Are many children homeschooled in your country?
- What do you think might be the pros and cons of homeschooling?

2 9.08 Listen to a podcast about homeschooling and answer the questions.

What advantages and disadvantages does it mention?

3 9.09 Match arguments 1–3 from the podcast with their supporting examples. Then listen again and check.

- Homeschoolers have more time to socialise. ☐ ☐
 - Not everyone can afford the luxury of homeschooling. ☐ ☐
 - Schools offer things that homeschooling can't. ☐ ☐
- a Take a family where both parents are working.
 b A case in point is the question of socialisation.
 c In my case, I spend a lot of time with other homeschooled kids doing projects together at each other's houses.
 d Look at my cousin, Rob. He's at school from eight thirty till four.

What education is needed nowadays?

It is said that schools should provide students with excellent education to help them in their career and life choices. But is that really the case?

School leavers emphasise how few subjects offer a practical experience and not just theory. They also feel that their timetables are filled with incredible number of uninspiring subjects rarely allowing them to have good night's sleep. It is obvious that students need a help, but being given a lot of homework? (4)

Both educationalists and students claim that there should be less focus on tests and more attention paid to progress that students make in the course of education. (1)

- 4 Re-write the following sentences, using the words in capitals.

- 1 Homeschooling offers more flexibility in scheduling study time and allows for personalized learning. (NOT ONLY)

- 2 Parents in Việt Nam should only consider homeschooling if they have the time, resources, and commitment. (ONLY IF)

- 3 Some homeschoolers seldom participate in extracurricular activities and social events. (SELDOM)

- 1 What do you know about Hồ Xuân Hương – the famous Vietnamese poet? Work in pairs. List three facts about her life and works that you know.

- 2 C.01 Read the text about Hồ Xuân Hương. What do the highlighted words and phrases mean?

Hồ Xuân Hương (1772–1822) is one of Việt Nam's most iconic poets. She was born into a poor family at the end of the Lê dynasty. Little is known about her personal life, but many people have agreed that she endured a great deal of hardship in her childhood. She grew up and became a prominent poet of her time. Her life coincided with significant social and political change in Việt Nam at the time.

Hồ Xuân Hương wrote poetry using chữ Nôm (Southern Script) which adapts Chinese characters. Her poetry often challenged traditional social norms and tackled taboo subjects with a clever tone. She covered a wide range of topics, including love, desire, gender roles, social injustice, and political corruption, among which women played a significant role. Her poems are renowned for their use of vivid imagery, wordplay, and metaphors, which allowed her to convey deep meanings, and later was considered to be ahead of her time.

Hồ Xuân Hương's poems continue to resonate with many local readers in today's society, as they provide insights into the social and cultural context of 19th century Việt Nam. International readers can also find translations of these poems highly relatable as they address universal themes that transcend time and place. Her contributions to Vietnamese literature have earned her the title "the Queen of Nôm poetry".

- 3 Work in pairs. Read the text and then ask and answer the following questions.

Student A

- 1 When was Hồ Xuân Hương born?
- 2 How was her childhood?

1 Find Antarctica on the world map. What do you know about Antarctica? Write down three things you know and three things you want to know about this continent.

2  C.02 Read about Antarctic habitat. Check if you know the words in blue.

Antarctic habitat

Antarctica covers the South Pole of our planet and is the fifth largest continent in the world. Antarctica has an extremely cold, dry climate. It is the coldest place on Earth and is ice-covered. During winter, the water is always frozen because the temperature drops as low as -30°C . There are only two seasons in Antarctica: summer and winter. In this continent, snow rarely melts; rather, it builds up over a number of years to produce ice sheets. In the form of glaciers, ice shelves, and icebergs, ice plays a significant role in the Antarctic ecosystem.

Who live in an Antarctic habitat?

There are no native humans in Antarctica as it is too cold for anyone to live there. However, some residents, such as scientists, still work and live in scientific stations. Tourists may also travel to Antarctica.

What animals live in an Antarctic habitat?

Some animals choose Antarctica as their habitat. These animals include:

Seals

The leopard seal, the crabeater seal, the Weddell seal, and the southern elephant seal are the four types of seals living in this habitat. Being slow predators, these seals hunt by waiting for their prey in specific locations.

Whales

Many different whales live in Antarctic waters in the summer, eating fish, squid, plankton and penguins. Different types of whales include humpback, blue whale, and killer whale.

Penguins

The most familiar animal of Antarctica is probably the penguin. Penguins live in the waters surrounding the Antarctic most of the time, although they sometimes come up on land to mate and raise their chicks. Penguins mostly feed on very small fish and krill.

3 Read again. Answer the following questions.

- 1 How's the water in Antarctica in winter?
- 2 Why does snow rarely melt in Antarctica?
- 3 Who lives in Antarctica?
- 4 What is similar between whales and penguins living in Antarctica?

4 What do you find most surprising about Antarctic habitat? Share with your friend.

5 PROJECT: It is said that the second half of the 20th century was a time of drastic change in Antarctica. What changes have occurred to Antarctica? Choose one aspect of change and make a poster to report how it changes. Present your poster to the class.

CLIL3 HISTORY OF NEWSPAPERS

- 1 Look at the pictures. Re-order the pictures in time order to show the development of Vietnamese newspapers. Write 1–3 in the blanks.

1 Look at the photos (A–C). What do you know about these virtual singers?

2 Which of these words go together? Match the words on the left with those on the right to make a Word Friend.

- | | |
|----------------|-----------|
| 1 AI | effect |
| 2 Internet | event |
| 3 introductory | generated |
| 4 music | idol |
| 5 musical | sensation |
| 6 pop | singer |
| 7 sound | studio |
| 8 virtual | talent |

3 C.04 Read the text about an AI-generated virtual singer in Việt Nam. Choose the best answer to the questions.

Virtual singers are a novel trend in the field of music. These singers are not human; rather they are generated by artificial intelligence (AI) algorithms, which create realistic-looking images of humans. These virtual singers can play music and sing with the same proficiency as human singers.

Ann, the first virtual singer produced in Việt Nam by BoBo Studio, is a remarkable example of this technology. Her voice is created using natural human sounds, such as breathing, which makes her sound as real as possible. The entire process is accomplished using complex AI algorithms and sound effects.

Ann's first song, "Làm Sao Nói Thương Anh" (How to Say I Love You), was released on YouTube, which is likely to make her an Internet sensation in Việt Nam. The music video is entirely computer-generated using visual effects, which represents a new genre of music. Ann's creators hope that she will become a successful ballad singer, with a unique musical style that will evolve from ballads to rock with a baby voice. They aspire for Ann to become a popular idol, renowned for her musical talents.

Virtual singers, like Ann, are not just limited to singing. They can also act, promote fashion and commerce, and are a perfect example of talented AI-generated individuals who can become pop idols.

Countries like Japan, South Korea, and the US have been using virtual singers for a while now. Studios report that virtual singers have some advantages over real singers. For example, virtual singers do not get tired and do not age, which makes them easier to manage and maintain for a longer time.

Student A

- How well do virtual singers play music?
- Who is Ann?
- What did Ann perform at her introductory event?
- Where was Ann's first song released?

Student B

- What was Ann's first music video made by?
- What type of music will Ann eventually perform?
- What other talents will Ann have?
- What advantage do virtual singers have?

4 In pairs, discuss: What are the advantages and disadvantages of a virtual singer?

5 PROJECT: Work in groups.

Research other virtual singers on the Internet. Each group chooses a virtual singer from a country. Make a PowerPoint presentation to the class about what you've found about your singer. Include pictures, videos or music. Vote for your favourite singer!

- 1 Look at the picture and the functions of the brain. Are you left-brained, right-brained or both?

- 2 C.05 Read quickly through the text. Check if you understand the words in blue.

The human brain is a fascinating organ in the body responsible for numerous cognitive functions, including language acquisition and learning. The brain is divided into left and right hemispheres. For decades, research has highlighted the dominance of the left hemisphere in language learning and the right hemisphere has been largely overlooked. Recently, scientists have found that each has distinct functions and contributions to language learning.

The Left Hemisphere

The left hemisphere of the brain primarily contributes to a person's language processing and analytical thinking. It plays a fundamental role in helping learners decode and produce language, including grammar, vocabulary, and syntax. Additionally, this hemisphere is involved in reading, writing, and verbal memory. When learners learn a new language, their left hemisphere helps them in understanding the language's structure, rules, and semantics.

The Right Hemisphere

The right hemisphere, on the other hand, is responsible for language learning in different ways. It is associated with the comprehension of subtle meanings, intonation, and emotional aspects of language. It also assists learners in the interpretation of non-verbal cues, such as facial expressions and gestures, which are crucial for effective communication. Moreover, it facilitates a learner in the acquisition of a language's rhythm and melody. When a learner has an active right hemisphere, he or she is more sensitive to acoustic differences in sound.

- 3 Read the text again and answer the following questions.

- 1 What is the primary function of the left hemisphere in language learning?
- 2 What are the two aspects of language processing that the left hemisphere is involved in?
- 3 How does the right hemisphere contribute to language learning?
- 4 What are two examples of non-verbal cues?

- 4 PROJECT: Work in groups. Look at the following diagram (Zhou et al., 2020). Do an Internet search about how the brain functions in the learning process. Explain the diagram in your own words.

UNIT 1 | Speaking, Exercise 5

Text 2 Beethoven

Ludwig van Beethoven was born in Germany in 1770. He was a talented musician at an early age so his father taught him music. He started performing at the age of 6. His father wanted him to be famous like Mozart. In the early part of his career, Beethoven taught piano and wrote symphonies. Later in his career, he gradually became deaf and no longer performed. But during this time, he wrote some of his greatest works. He never married and had no children. Today he is considered one of Western music's greatest composers.

UNIT 2 | Grammar, Exercise 4

Verb patterns

Verbs preceded by other verbs or verb phrases may follow these patterns:

- verb + to + infinitive, e.g. agree, arrange, can't afford, decide, intend, learn, manage, offer, prefer, refuse, remember, seem, tend:
I decided to leave school and find a job.
My sister agreed to help me with my homework.
- verb + object + to + infinitive, e.g. advise, allow, cause, enable, encourage, expect, force, remind, urge, warn:
Robert's mother encouraged him to study Law.
The teacher reminded us not to use our mobile phones during lessons.
- verb + object + infinitive without to, e.g. make, let:
Do his parents let him hang out with his friends?
My parents used to make me do a lot of household chores.
- verb + gerund (-ing form), e.g. admit, avoid, can't help, can't stand, enjoy, fancy, imagine, keep, miss, practise, spend / waste time, stop
I can't stand wearing a school uniform.
She recently stopped eating fast food, and she feels better already.

- verb + gerund (-ing form) / to + infinitive:
After the verbs begin, continue, hate, intend, like, love, prefer and start, we can use both the -ing form and the to infinitive. The meaning stays the same or changes very slightly.

I started playing chess. I started to play chess.

He intends using the school website. He intends to use the school website.

Change in meaning

- After the verbs remember, forget, stop and try, we can use both the -ing form and the to infinitive form, however the meaning of the sentence changes:

Jenny remembers locking the door. (She remembers that she locked the door.)

Jenny remembers to lock the door. (She always remembers to lock the door.)

Dad'll forget giving me the money. (He will forget that he gave me the money.)

Dad'll forget to give me the money. (He hasn't given me the money and he'll forget to do it.)

Liz stopped drinking coffee. (Liz doesn't drink coffee anymore.)

Liz stopped to drink some coffee. (Liz stopped doing something in order to drink coffee.)

I tried turning the computer off and on again, but it didn't help. (I tried this as an experiment to see if it would work).

I tried to turn the computer off, but the shutdown command didn't work.
(I made an effort to turn the computer off).

- We use feel, hear, see, watch + infinitive without to in order to say we saw the whole action from beginning to end:

I saw Mary paint a picture. (I saw Mary start on the painting, paint it and finish painting).

We use feel, hear, see, watch + -ing form when we witness only a part of the action.
